Working to clean up the old town dump

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - Maple Meadow Landfill still has some growing pains to get through to achieve closure, as does Aldrich Road to gain another home, but both public hearings before the Conservation Commission during their Wednesday December 19th meeting were closed.

ALDRICH ROAD. The project is for the eventual construction of a single family home on an approximately an acre lot that contains wetlands and a stream. The project consists of several phases, the first of which is to excavate test holes for design of a sewage disposal system. The applicant, Marjorie Castellano, is applying to the Conservation Commission for permission to cross the wetlands to conduct the testing.

The second part of the project is to receive the Commission's approval to construct an approximately 131-foot driveway that would cross wetlands and the intermittent stream to provide access to the site for the home. A culvert would be installed for the stream.

"The culvert is an open box designed to handle the 100-year storm event," said Project Engineer Tim Williams, of GCG Associates. The construction of the home will require a new filing with the Commission. The amount of wetland disturbance would be approximately 1300 square feet and the applicant proposes to replicate approximately 1350 square feet on another section of the property.

The applicant supplied the necessary information for the replication plans and test pit requirements to the Commission and the Commission closed the hearing.

923 MAIN STREET/MAPLE MEADOW LANDFILL. This Notice of Intent application to conduct work on the approximately 30-acre landfill site was filed to allow testing to determine the edge of waste on the south side and the northeast corner of the landfill. The northeast corner of the parcel is owned by Clarence Spinazola and the south side is owned by the Boston Edison Company (doing business as NSTAR). The work involves test pits and access roads across wetlands.

"Last fall, we dug test pits to determine the extent of the waste," said Dan Duffy, engineer, of Camp Dresser and McKee.

According to the project description in the Notice of Intent filing, three test pit investigation programs have been conducted by Spinazola's contractor, Mass Environmental Associates, Inc., at the Maple Meadow Landfill site. The first program of testing was conducted last fall, the second was conducted in the spring of 2001, and the third began in September. The first two test programs were done to determine the edge of waste in the landfill, but test results show that waste may extend beyond the limit of the original scope of work and more testing is necessary. Further testing in a broader area will be necessary. The third testing program tested the content of the materials beneath the channel of Maple Meadow Brook which runs through the landfill, the northern portion of the landfill and the southern portion under the power lines. All of the test pits showed evidence of waste either below the brook or along the banks. Test pits were dug approximately 15-feet below the surface.

This new Notice of Intent was filed to obtain consent to continue the investigations of the third testing program. The information gathered from this investigation will determine the remediation alternatives

Once upon a time in Wilmington

By Capt. Larz Neilson

Early May 1928 was a nice time to live in Wilmington. The town had a population of about 3500. It boasted 56 trains a day in service to and from Boston. There was a trolley line to Everett and Lowell.

The town had a one-man fire department - Eddie Day, who lived upstairs over a ramshackle fire station which boasted two pieces of home-made equipment. Chester Horton, building inspector and a carpenter, was the captain, and Charlie Black was the clerk.

There was a small police force, too; Chief Hill and Al Butters, who stood around at Hudson's Corner (now Wilmington Square). There were others, all specials, including Charlie Riley, who used to stand in the Square when Al was off duty, and watch for traffic violators, people who were speeding over 15 miles an hour. When Charlie caught a speeder, he was in his glory.

The school budget that year was $60,000, and the main topic of conversation was the high cost of education.

There was a spanking new Water Department, which had $350,000 to spend, and concrete was being poured on Kelley Hill for a new standpipe. Herb Barrows, who had the contract to unload the steel for the standpipe was busy erecting a set of sheer legs in the railroad yard, near Shawsheen Avenue. He unloaded the steel and hauled it up the hill with a trusty pair of horses.

The buildings to be seen from Hudson's Corner were all made of wood, unless one went onto the street and looked north, where one would see a new brick building, the new bank, Mechanics Savings Bank. It wasn't a large building by today's standards, but it was a step forward and quite handsome.

Caleb Harriman and George Griffiths were responsible for the erection of the new building. Harriman owned a tannery, and was a water commissioner. Griffiths lived in the old Hiller House, almost next door to the new bank. He was a forward looking man who was derided for his views. He want-

WHS Guidance Dept.

1st College Roundtable Jan. 4

By STACEY E. STEVENS

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School (WHS) Guidance Department s seeking to enlist recent graduates to participate in WHS's first ever College Roundtable to be held in the WHS auditorium on Friday, January 4th, 2002 at 1:15 p.m. This fun and informal discussion group will provide graduates a unique opportunity to return to their alma mater and share their expertise with up-and-coming graduates, members of the junior class who will soon be treading paths similar to their current ones! Participants are asked to come prepared to answer questions pertaining to their college experience: the level of preparedness achieved during their high school years, the hurdles that they've overcome, the wisdom that they've gained, what served them well during your high school years, which things they wish that they had done differently, what they've learned now that they wish they had only known then, etc.

The driving force behind this new endeavor is WHS's Guidance Director Kelly Glynn, who offers a wealth of expertise from her years of service as a guidance counselor in the Maine public school system.

"Having observed this model in other school systems, the importance of being proactive in getting the junior class to start thinking seriously about their futures, rather than waiting until December of their senior year, cannot be emphasized enough," comments Glynn. "One of the many strengths of the WHS staff is their commitment to working with the student body to ensure effective planning for productive and successful futures. This fall, for example, we started working with members of the freshman class to formu-

The Wonder Years Learning Center

Making a positive difference in our community, our world

By Stacey E. Stevens

Each autumn during the latter week of October, the Wonder Years Learning Center (WYLC) of Wilmington (located at 148 Lowell Street opposite Textron and between the Ninety-Nine Restaurant and West Springfield Auto Parts) participates in 'Let's Make A Difference Week.' By inviting its constituent families to unite in an act of charitable giving, WYLC helps to benefit some segment of humanity, be it right in our own backyard, in the greater Boston area, in our nation or anywhere in the world.

To date, WYLC's projects have included the cleanup and beautification of our environment, participating in the 'Toys for Tots' campaign, and the collecting of warm coats, food, and first aid supplies. These items are donated to a local food pantry, a battered women's shelter, and a shelter for the homeless.

This year, WYLC has also chosen to make a difference in our international community in two very distinct ways. First, WYLC contributed to President Bush's recently-created, nationally-promoted humanitarian relief campaign, entitled 'America's Fund for Afghan Children'.

Administered by the American Red Cross, every dollar of this fund is allotted directly toward the purchase of food, clothing, medical supplies, and other necessities for

by Joyce Brisbois

WHO OWNS THE CAR?

Anyone who drives a car for business—whether as an employee or a business owner—needs to look at the tax consequences.

Best bet: If the company owns the car, the individual is charged with income tax for his or her personal use, but this is limited to the annual lease value of the car. The cost to the individual is less than buying the car, and all of the company expenses for the car are deductible, within certain limits for depreciation.

If the individual owns the car and is reimbursed for the business use under an accountable plan, there is no income charged, but no deductions, either. The worst situation is if the individual owns the car and is not reimbursed for business use. Expenses can be written off as a miscellaneous itemized deduction, but this is subject to a floor of 2 percent of adjusted gross income. Result: losing part or all of the deduction, possible loss of deduction for high-income taxpayers and maybe triggering the AMT.

Happy New Year to all from the tax people at

Letters to the Editor

RMLD employees are very dedicated public servants

Dear editor,

Let me start by saying I have been a rate payer of the Reading Light Department virtually my entire adult life. I am also a ten year employee of the department. Recently the department has come under a dark cloud of suspicion for some inappropriate spending of rate payer money by a very select few employees. There are approximately ninety employees currently employed at the department and let me assure you that I have never worked with or been associated with a group of people more dedicated to the people they serve than my co-workers and friends. The greater body of employees truly care about the customers we serve because we are neighbors and friends.

During difficult times, such as severe storms or unexpected emergencies, I challenge anyone to question the dedication and response shown by my fellow employees. From the men in the line department who virtually put their lives on the line every day, to the women in the office who are dedicated to serving you in the most professional way, I am proud to be part of such a dedicated group of people, who I know will continue to serve the residents of Reading, Lynnfield, N. Reading and Wilmington to the best of their abilities, which in my book is second to none!

I urge you to not frown upon an entire organization for the mistakes of a few.

Tony Butler
President: Council #93.
Local #1703 A.F.S.C.M.E.

Would you want to chose between a getting bath and getting groceries?

Dear Editor:

There is a desperate cry that is not being heard. This cry concerns our elderly neighbors and the severe lack of home care services that is about to get worse. There has been much talk recently about "the budget" from the State House and the intended cuts to be made due to the recent economic decline. However, most people don't realize that these intended cuts heavily target the homebound, disabled elderly by cutting the already sparce home care support many low income elders presently receive through state funded programs.

I work directly with many of these desperately needy elders who are disabled due to their frailty, and I see many of them going into nursing homes at a much higher cost to the state rather than be happily and safely cared for at home where they want to be. A disabled elder in Massachusetts who is low income presently can be eligible for such services as Meals on Wheels, bathing and dressing assistance, homemaking, adult day care, Lifeline, shopping, transportation, bill paying assistance etc., however in many instances these services are already severely limited due to budgetary restrictions.

For example, because of budget constraints, a typical client of mine may receive a bath once a week in order to also receive Meals on Wheels five days a week. The monthly service budget we work with is only $228 and because of a continuing worker shortage, the cost of personal care workers and all of our services, keeps going up and up and up. If my client also needs grocery shopping or laundry assistance and no family is available to help with this, the elder has to choose what to give up to stay within state reimbursed budgetary guidelines. When you consider the low monthly service amount, this doesn't leave much room for flexibility. Would you want to chose between a bath and getting groceries?

Does this sound supportive of our elderly neighbors, many of whom fought for this country and gave you and me the freedom we take for granted? However, this in-home care combined with family, friends, neighbors and volunteer helpers, allows many of these elders to stay in their own homes where they want to be. State funded home care also helps give family caregivers much needed assistance. Without some help exhausted and overwhelmed caregivers are forced to place their elderly loved ones in a nursing home.

I'm not saying that for some elders a nursing home would not be the best choice in order for that elder to remain safe on a 24 hour basis; however most of the elders I see could function quite well and remain at home indefinitely with home care. Unfortunately, home care is being cut and a waiting list will begin in early January. How can the state cut home care when there is not enough to begin with?!

So I am asking each and every one of you to please contact your state representative and make your voice heard for our elderly neighbors. They can't call themselves so we need to speak up for them. The message is simple: Please ask them not to cut elderly home care. The State House Switchboard number is 617-722-22000.

Thank you so much for your support.

WILMINGTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

"Team Harmony" carried on in local assembly

WILMINGTON - Team Harmony was created eight years ago by three Boston men. Every year, students from various schools came together at the Fleet Center to speak out against prejudice and hate. This year's event was originally scheduled for Tuesday, December 11, 2001, but because of our country's tragedy, it has been rescheduled for Spring 2002.

To spread the spirit of Team Harmony, the eighth graders of Wilmington Middle School held an assembly. Sergeant Chris Neville of the Wilmington Police Department spoke of the importance of respect. We, along with 222 other schools, then watched a video about Team Harmony. While our chorus sang "Imagine" by John Lennon, we watched a slide show created by Mr. Dan Spriggs. Then eighth graders read their original poems about harmony. These poets were Stephanie Parker, Kevin Robillard, Tom Miele, Sarah Terlaga, Amy Lentini, Ariana Catino, and Lauren McDonagh.

Over the past weeks, the eighth graders have been discussing tolerance in their classrooms. As an optional assignment, students wrote about a time they faced prejudice or showed tolerance to others. A few of these occurrences were chosen and read anonymously by other students. DARE officer Chip Bruce lead the eighth grade in the Team Harmony Pledge. He was followed by a surprise guest speaker, Byron Ritchie, a Lowell Lock Monster hockey player.

This assembly was a major success thanks to Ms. Kolodner, one of Wilmington Middle School's guidance counselors. Harmony is an important issue in our every day lives, and this assembly helped to remind us all to live in peace.

Tolerance

by Stephanie Parker

Sometimes I wonder, "Are things really this way?"
Is there this much suffering in the world today?
But then I realize that it's true,
It's just hard to comprehend what some people do.
Like school shootings, which tear communities apart,
Just the pull of a trigger will break many hearts.
And with children as victims it's twice as bad,
Because you can't help but think of the life they could have had.
These shootings are terrible; we know that for sure,
But there's a way to make certain they never occur.
If we tolerate others and stop being cruel,
We can again feel safe within our schools.
If we can come to respect how others feel,
We'll learn that differences aren't such a big deal.
And lastly, if we can just be kind,
And meet new people with an open mind,
Things will improve, you will see,
And what a better place this world will be!!

What Matters Most

by Sarah Terlaga

The individuals of this world are all so blind.
Race, beauty, and style are all they can find.
No one takes the effort to look beyond what they see.
We just judge and ridicule the people who are different from you and me.
Your appearance does not plan your future or say who you are,
Your thoughts and beliefs will make you go far.
Don't try to be someone you're not, it shows your insecurity and negative behavior that you were taught.
People should be careful of what they say
To spread the spirit of Team Harmony, the eighth graders of Wilmington Middle School held an assembly. Sergeant Chris Neville of the Wilmington Police Department spoke of the importance of respect.

Changes

by Brian Martin

I stood and watched in horror
As the plane exploded and pieces fell
What was happening I could not tell

Was this a mistake?
Please god for heaven sake,
Why would you let these people die?
While we all stand here and cry.

Oh no, it happened again
What kind of world do we live in.
It must be a terrorist attack,
I should run, I should watch my back.

I'm frozen with fear, I can not move
What were these terrorists trying to prove?

I catch my breath and almost choke
As I see through the smoke people starting to jump their bodies hit the ground with a thump.

They look like rag dolls
So tiny and small
What will their families think when they get the call.
Their loved one is dead
Nothing can be said!

Our lives have changed forever.
Will we ever forget?
NO NEVER!

Us

by Lauren McDonagh

We must understand,
We are the future,
We must walk hand in hand,
We are the world.

It is up to us.
Over races and beliefs
And looks, we musn't fuss
We must learn to live in peace.

We have the power,
To change the world,
It is our shining hour,
To change the world.

We must stop the hate,
The violence and racism,
We can't let it become too late,
To make the world a peaceful place.

We must try hard and seek,
The beauty is within.
Ignorance is weak,
Tolerance will save us.

World Peace

by Tom Miele

Why can't everyone try to get along;
Why do some think that's so wrong?
I can't see why some people have to hate each other
Why can't they see beyond a person's color?

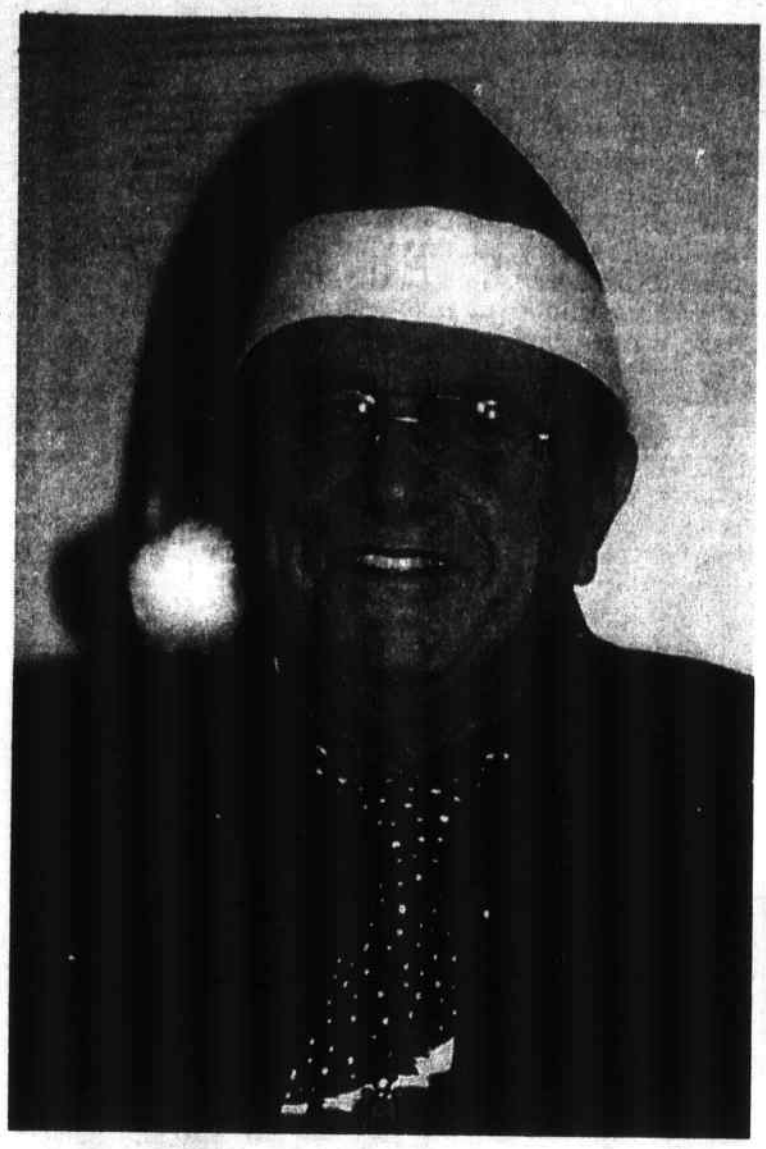

It doesn't take long for someone to figure out
That a world of hatred isn't what life's all about.
The world would be better if people were daring
To start helping others by giving and sharing.

It's time for everyone to make the world a better place.
It's time to stop judging people based on their race.
World peace sounds good but, will never come true
Unless the ignorant people start to get a clue.

Why can't we all just get along?

by Nicloe Figucia

A school free of insults
Will I ever see the day
when kids can walk down the hall
Without being called a name?
Can't people just accept the fact
That we're not all the same?
Nobody is perfect
And that will never change
Try not to put people down
Just ignore what you don't like
If we were all a little meore friendly,
We could spare a dear friend's life
There would be less school violence
If we all just got along
Maybe it would help to write a poem or sing a snog
So remember theis the next timw
You want to put someone down:
Wouldn't you rather see than witha
Smile than a frown?

SANTA?...IS THAT YOU? George Kofus took part in the recent Holiday party at the Tewksbury Senior Center. He sold raffle tickets as party goers came through the door.

Staff Selections for Snow Day Reads

If it is snowing outside and you are inside cuddled up with a cup of hot chocolate, make sure you have a good book to read. The staff recommends the following list compiled by Reference Librarian Terri Boudette.

Blackberry Wine by Joanne Harris. The author of Chocolat has written another lovely story set in the village of Lansquenet. Jay MacKintosh is a blocked writer with one successful best seller behind him. He uses some magical bottles of wine made by his old friend Joe to help him remember his childhood and then move on with his life. Ms. Harris uses drink instead of food to convey emotions in this fascinating story.

Falling Angels by Tracy Chevalier. This is the story of two families whose lives are drastically changed by the turn of the century and the many upheavals caused by the social and political philosophies of the day. The story is told from 11 points of view, allowing the reader to be aware of every side of the story. One of the main themes is Kitty Coleman's interest in the women's suffrage movement of the time and how her involvement affects the rest of the characters. This is even better than Chevalier's first book Girl with a Pearl Earring.

Wreck the Halls by Sarah Graves. Graves writes a serious of light hearted fiction called "home repair is homicide mysteries." They are set in Maine around two female best friends who solve murders. The comments one woman makes to herself as she deals with her ex-husband and other suspects are quite amusing. I could not guess who the murderer was until they were caught. This one is set around the holidays and had mysteries within the twisted plot.

Natural Suspect by William Bernhardt. This collaborative effort by today's hottest suspense writers is a mystery with each chapter written by a different author. A wealthy oil tycoon is killed after threatening to cut his family out of his will. The cast of suspects is a strange mix of dysfunctional players who all have a motive. It is fun to try and guess which author wrote each chapter. This book is a mix of the best ingredients of a great mystery.

Alice's Tulips by Sandra Dallas. When Alice's husband enlists in the Union army, she is left to tend the family farm with her repressive, cantankerous mother - in- law. Then Alice is accused of murder and the two must unite to clear her name. The book is comprised of letters Alice writes to her sister to relieve her frustrations. It is both humorous and telling of the hardships she endures. This is a moving story and a great read for Civil War buffs.

IPAC

If you would like to reserve any of the above books that are checked out, just click in the IPAC link, the online catalog, on the library's web site: www.wilmlibrary.org. If the book is on the shelf in Wilmington, call the library at 978-658-2967 and the staff will hold the book at the main desk for you.

The library will close at 5 p.m. Monday, December 31, New Year's Eve and will be closed Tuesday, January 1, New Year's Day.

A Message To The Community

READING MUNICIPAL LIGHT DEPARTMENT

OVER THE PAST WEEK, you may have read media stories or overheard conversations about the Massachusetts Inspector General's report and its allegations regarding credit card reimbursements and various spending practices at Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD). We obviously take these allegations very seriously. That's because our goal is to operate the best managed municipal utility in the state.

I feel that it is very important to share with you — the community and our customers — the immediate corrective actions that we took within the department upon reviewing the IG's report and its contents. These actions include:

- Freezing all credit card and petty cash expenditures.
- Carefully analyzing and revising all credit card and travel expense policies.
- Mandating that no RMLD funds be spent on alcohol, in any form, by any employee, whether union or management.
- Requiring that all back-up data for payroll and Accounts Payable warrants be forwarded to the Town of Reading along with the warrant, whether requested or not.
- Agreeing to pay for the services of an independent auditor to review all allegations.

While these actions significantly impact the operation of our business, I viewed these as necessary interim steps to protect the integrity of RMLD. At a public meeting of our Board of Light Commissioners on December 17, I proposed — and the Board approved — a number of revisions to these and other RMLD interim policies that will allow us to take steps towards restoring trust and returning to normal business operation.

All of the Inspector General's allegations are now being formally investigated by an appointed task force comprised of two members of our Board of Light Commissioners, two members of the Reading Board of Selectmen, two members of the Reading Finance Committee, and one member of our Citizens' Advisory Board. This group is charged with not only reviewing all of the allegations, but also recommending, if appropriate, modifications to our existing expense reimbursement policies and procedures. We are committed to full cooperation with the task force as they review and analyze all pertinent information. Should the task force identify any inappropriate reimbursements, the responsible parties within RMLD will be asked to repay the monies immediately.

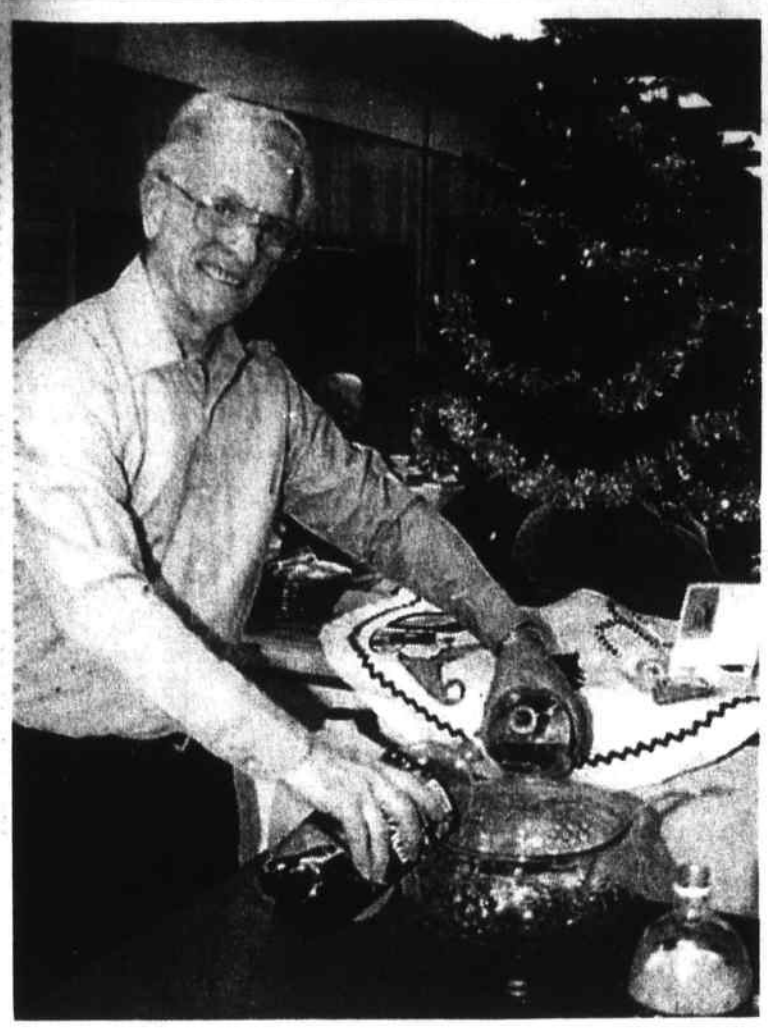

At the request of the Board of Light Commissioners, I also will be providing documentation to address each and every one of the IG's allegations. I began gathering this information in earnest once I had reviewed the report and will forward the appropriate responses to the Board of Light Commissioners by January 28. I am eager to resolve this issue to the satisfaction of our Commissioners, Citizens' Advisory Board, customers, service territories and employees.

WE THANK YOU FOR THE SUPPORT THAT YOU HAVE ALREADY PROVIDED AND FOR YOUR CONTINUED UNDERSTANDING AS WE ADDRESS THIS SITUATION.

Sincerely,

Len Rucker

Miceli offers solution to problems in health care coverage

TEWKSBURY-WILMINGTON- After receiving many phone calls regarding Woburn Medical Associates' decision to terminate contracts with HMOs offering Medicare managed plans, Rep. Miceli and his staff worked closely with state and federal officials to solve this serious problem. Woburn Medical Associates has decided to no longer offer care for patients covered by Blue Care 65, First Seniority, or Secure Horizons beginning January 1, 2002. On the same date, Winchester Hospital will end coverage for all Medicare managed plans except Secure Horizons.

Although all citizens are automatically enrolled in Original Medicare when they turn 65, some individuals opt to signup for additional coverage under the HMO Medicare programs. Those not enrolled in HMOs are still covered with the Original Medicare programs, but to receive equal services they must signup for a Medigap program.

On December 4, Tommy Thompson, the federal Secretary of Health and Human Services, approved a special program that will help some seniors affected by those changes to continue seeing those doctors who no longer accept their HMO Medicare insurance. Thompson declared that the month of December 2001 is to be a Special Enrollment Period for the Medigap program.

In order to continue service uninterrupted, one must enroll in a Medigap program by December 31, 2001.

Rep. Miceli's office has mailed more detailed information about this program to all seniors in the Tewksbury and Wilmington area. However, anyone with any questions or concerns regarding this information should call Miceli's office at 617-722-2582 or speak to a SHINE counselor at Minuteman Senior Services at 781-272-7177.

Boy Scout Troop 651 Christmas Tree collection

TEWKSBURY - Local Boy Scout Troop 651 will be collecting Christmas trees as part of a unique fundraiser after the holidays. Tewksbury residents who enjoy their trees through December often miss the town's curbside collection then must carry the dried carcass of Christmas past to the landfill. This effort, as any of us who have done so will quickly recall, is usually accompanied by a thorough arduous vacuuming of the trunk to remove the deluge of fallen needles.

This year a helpful alternative is being provided by the troop. On January 5 and 12 boys from the troop, sponsored through the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will transport your discarded tree to the landfill. A donation of five to seven dollars is suggested.

The funds will be used in preparation for this coming summer's High Adventure Camp. The boys, ranging in age from 11-17 will be traveling to the north woods for a week of hiking and camping. Older patrols will complete a mountainous 50 mile hike of the Appalachian Trail. The newest and youngest boys will do some hiking and spend significant time learning basic Scout skills like first aid, fire building and outdoor survival. Each of the young men will have opportunity to earn multiple merit badges and rank advancements. The pinnacle of a boy's Scouting experience is when they achieve their highest rank, the Eagle Scout.

If you would like to participate in this endeavor, the Christmas Tree Fundraising works as follows:

Residents should call 978-670-7519 and leave their address and pone number. Also specify which Saturday (Jan. 5 or 12) the tree should be collected. Then simply leave the donation (in an envelope) attached. The Scouts will do the rest.

So maybe money doesn't grow on trees, but, through this service, I think it's safe to say the boys will.

K of C enjoyed annual party

TEWKSBURY - On Sunday, December 16, 110 children and grandchildren of the combined groups enjoyed the annual party at our K of C Hall in Tewksbury.

P.G.K. Lou Cimaglia acted as emcee and did a great job keeping things moving. The kids and the adults as well enjoyed hot dogs, chicken tenders, fries, juice boxes, sodas, pop corn and numerous other snacks while awaiting Santa.

Two huge birthday cakes were lit and all of the children gathered around and joined in with a chorus of Happy Birthday Baby Jesus. The kids and adults then enjoyed cake and ice cream.

During a hearty version of Jingle Bells Santa Claus arrived on the scene amid the joyful anticipation of the kids. As they each brought up a wrapped gift, per family, the jolly elf presented them a gift of their own. There was much picture taking with Santa as well, mostly enjoyed by the little ones with a few predictable moments of hesitation. Each kid, in turn, received a nice gift from Santa.

Since their arrival most of the kids had been enjoying the crafts table making a variety of things, some of which were "greetings" of pictures they presented to Santa.

No sooner had St. Nick left the room when the annual guests including, Mickey Mouse, the Teletubbies, Barney, Power Rangers and all the other delightful characters from the town arrived to top off their party.

A sincere thank you to all those visitors. A great job was done preparing and serving the food by John Synan, P.G.K. Jim McGlinchey, P.G.K. Charlie Doherty, G.K. Joe Cozza, Chancellor Alan Richardson and many other members of the St. William's Men's Club.

Thank also to Santa's helpers, John Synan (the younger) and first degree member, Sean Doherty. Also thanks to my daughters Christine and Lisa for their manning the craft table along with some instant volunteers of parents and older kids when they discovered we were short handed in that area.

The Squires, under Bro. Rich Rooney did a great job as greeters, and soda servers as well as aiding with the cleanup. As usual many others helped make this day successful including many of you old reliables who manned the pop corn machine, served the cake and ice cream and jumped in wherever needed.

Too many names to list, but all were appreciated. A special thinks to P.G.K. Jim McGlinchey who set up the room, carted out all the crafts material and, as always ended up with a special cleanup job.

Finally, a big thank you to all the adults who brought their kids to a great time but more importantly showed their generosity in providing many, many gifts for the needy families in the town. G.K. Joe Cozza drove his pickup to St. William's Church brimming with gifts piled openly in the back, much to the delight of Fr. O'Donnell.

Pause and Ponder with Bradford Dee

An Elemental Decision

The age old practice of cremation dates back to the Bronze Age and, more recently, has emerged as a contemporary practice in this country since the mid-1800s. While fewer than 1% of those who died at the end of the 19th century were cremated, that percentage has risen to around 25% today. The increasing popularity of cremation as a normal form of preparation for final disposition comes with the understanding that it does not restrict family and friends from participating in the traditions, ceremonies, or rituals of a funeral service. In many cases, the family chooses to view the body before cremation and then have the cremated remains present in an urn at the memorial service.

Ultimately, the funeral service should be an extension of the life of the deceased. Regardless of you particular beliefs, at Farmer & Dee Funeral Home, we would be happy to help you arrange for a beautiful service. Call us anytime at (978) 851-7411 with any questions.

for the brook. Some suggestions include relocating approximately 800 to 1000 feet of the brook or using culvert-type structure to channel the brook through the landfill.

The height of the landfill mound is higher than the approved height of 112-foot height. According to attorney for the Spinazola's Barry Fogel, the height "may be 8 to 10 feet above the approved" height. It is estimated that the final "in place" height after the fill mound has settled will not exceed 120f above ground level. He said that 1.8 million cubic yards of fill will be brought into the landfill to achieve the 2% grade necessary on the surface of the mound. It is estimated that about 200 truckloads of fill are shipped into the landfill each day.

"I feel we are on schedule," said Mr. Fogel.

late and actually write out what we call a 'four-year plan'. We build this time into each student's schedule and continue to work on it throughout their school career. Copies of the plan are sent home to the parents so that they may support their students.

"Even with the best of support systems, however, there is simply no comparison between hearing this information from one's parents, councelors and teachers, and hearing it one's peers," continues Glynn. "This is why the contribution that the alumni make is so invaluable. Several of you have signed up already, and we look forward to having many others do so as well."

It is interesting to note that last month WHS alumni Keith McLaren and Mark DiGiovanni visited Mrs. Boudreau's Marketing Management Class and shared tips and stories from their respective experiences at the University of Southern New Hampshire and Penn State College. It helped to give the students a real-life perspective on both the social and educational aspects of college life.

Any WHS alumnus or alumna wishing to participate in the College Roundtable is encouraged to contact Ms. Glynn at 978-694-6068 at their earliest convenience.

SOON TO HAVE NEW TENANTS. The Quinn building on Main Street in the center was the first brick building to be built on that stretch of Main Street. It originally housed two banks, The Reading Cooperative Bank and Mechanics Savings Bank.

the children of Afghanistan. WYLC nearly doubled its original goal of raising a minimum of $138.00 (one dollar from each child and staff member) between October 23rd and November 2nd. A $260.00 contribution was sent to the White House along with a letter written by the kindergarten class to President Bush.

One very thoughtful and resourceful six-year-old named Frank Silveira came up with the following suggestion, "If you don't have any money to send, then you can still help out by sewing clothes for people." Another altruistic family sent a gift consisting of a warm blanket and a compact disc of children's lullabies by famous recording artists to a Massachusetts family who had lost a parent in the September 11th World Trade Center Tragedy.

WYLC's second humanitarian project was the kindergarten class's bake sale to raise funds with which to help save the world's rainforests. While reading the story 'The Magic Treehouse: Adventure on the Amazon' in which a group of schoolchildren takes a magical journey to the Amazon rainforest, the class learned that our rainforests are in peril of being wiped out due to people cutting them down in order to build more towns when there are already enough towns there. The animals there are also in danger because the people who live nearby shoot poisoned arrows at them. After finishing the book, the class decided that they wanted to do something to help, so they planned and executed a two-day bake sale during the third week of December, in which they raised over one hundred fifty-nine dollars. The students and their families baked muffins, gingerbread, cupcakes, M&M cookies, reindeer cookies, and chocolate-dipped pretzels. Some of the children were so excited about this project that they donated their change without even purchasing any goodies for themselves. In preparation for the bake sale, the class adopted the name, 'The Monkeys' and decorated their room to resemble the Amazon rainforest, complete with a waterfall and a replica of the magic treehouse from their book.

'The Monkeys' discovered that the rainforest is a humid jungle where it rains all of the time, with an average rainfall of eighty inches per day!

These wonders of nature, located in Asia, Chile, New Zealand, the Amazon Basin in Peru, and the Congo Basin in Africa, contain waterfalls, trees that possess medicinal properties, and serve as homes to many kinds of animals, including: alligators, boa constrictors, jaguars, lizards, macaws, mandrills (baboons that weigh 110 pounds and have sharp teeth), piranhas (they look pretty but their long, sharp jaws will devour anything, including people!), poison dart frogs (the ones that have yellow markings), sloths (they have sharp claws and move so slowly that algae forms on their backs), toucans, and of course several types of monkeys, including howler and squirrel monkeys.

'The Monkeys' also learned that when people cut down the rainforest in order to make room for more towns, the trees that once served as home to the animals disappear. Without new homes to move to, the rainforest animals cannot adapt and begin to die off. Once every one of a particular kind of animal has died off, that animal becomes extinct, and that is a very sad thing for everyone.

When asked how they feel about the money that they've raised to help save the rainforest, 'The Monkeys' shouted, "We feel great!" If you'd like to help make a difference this holiday season, or anytime during the coming year, consider sending a generous to donation one or more of the following worthwhile organizations:

Once upon a time in Wilmington

ed to build a new road from where DeMoulas is now to where Fred Cain's is. His plan was to have one-way traffic to solve the coming traffic problems. The Planning Board published a report saying the same thing, but nobody listened.

George bought up options for the land to build the road, and was ready to give it to the town, if the road would be built, but everybody laughed at him. They couldn't foresee the conditions of today, but George could.

He finally gave up in disgust.

Fred Cain many years later proposed a similar road. He came close, but it was never built.

One of the newer buildings was the E. E. Gray chain store, also a source of pride to some of the townspeople, for, they argued, a chain store was a sort of recognition that the town was growing. Young Johnny Finnerty was the manager. Ralph Currier had a meat market. He would wear a straw hat to work. He wore a half-dozen hats, so to speak, including that of town clerk and later state representative. Ralph was always well-liked.

Bill Altman had a meat market, too, in a store that was just torn down in he year 2001. It most recently was the home of Action Glass. Bill Altman was the father of Alan Altman, the retired town counsel.

The post office was in the building that is now an insurance agency. Locals would think of it as Bedell Brothers.

Down beyond the new bank was the Phelps House, still standing, and the home of the kindly Dr. Daniel Buzzell. He was the father of Philip Buzzell, who preceded Alan Altman as town counsel.

The last house on that side of Main Street was a big white one. It was the home of Chief of Police Walter Hill, who thought that Prohibition was a foolish law. That house is still standing, but has been moved to the opposite side of Middlesex Avenue, next to NAPA Auto Parts.

There was one building across the street from the new bank, the former office of the B&M Carpenters shop. The shop itself had been torn down but the foundation was still visible. The American Legion used to meet in the former office. Maurice Reebenacker was the commander. He was so heavy that he would sit with his knees apart as he conducted the meetings.

One other building should be mentioned, the gate watchman's shanty at the railroad crossing. In those days it was known as Hart's Crossing, the name coming from a former crossing tender. But in 1928, the man who held the job was Henry Hiller, the widower of Dr. France Hiller, who was known as the Casket Lady. Henry had a pleasant smile, as he waved a flag and a sign, stopping traffic so the trains could cross.

This was Wilmington on May 1, 1928, the day the bank opened.

The bank was actually two banks, the Mechanics Savings Bank and the Reading Co-operative Bank. Raymond Johnson was treasurer of both, and Joseph B. McMahon was manager.

Mr. McMahon was the only employee that day. There wouldn't be another for more than a year, when Roland Deming came to work as a clerk.

McMahon and Johnson were in the building half an hour before it was due to open. Outside a half dozen young people waited. Neither man realized that those young people were vying for the honor of having the first passbook in the new bank. When he opened the door at 9 a.m., McMahon took the customers on a first come - first served basis.

The first passbook was issued to Lloyd Laffin, the blacksmith's son. Behind Laffin, a young lady stood with tears in her eyes. She was the daughter of Ralph Currier, and she didn't get the first account. It was a crushing blow!

Those first few months were anxious ones for Joe McMahon and Caleb Harriman, who as director was responsible for the decision to locate where it was. Harriman spent much of his spare time with Joe. "If only we could get $500,000 in deposits," he would tell Joe, "By God, I'll be happy!"

And less than a year and a half later, the stock market crashed and the country slipped into a period known as the Great Depression. Long before Caleb had breathed his last, though, that sum was reached. And the two banks under one roof became a local institution, as did Joe McMahon. People would say, "Well, I guess I'll go down and see Joe McMahon," meaning, I'm going to the bank.

Joe McMahon was also a funeral director. His funeral home was behind his home on Middlesex Avenue. His grandson, Joseph T. McMahon is a lieutenant on the Wilmington Fire Dept.

By November 1, 1928, the Water Department had reached the point where it could expect to take in some money, and arrangements were made for the bank to be the collector. The Water Commissioners would meet in the bank every Saturday night and go over the accounts.

Joe remembered the first bill that was made out - the only one for the month of December 1928. It was to Harriman's Tannery.

The bank was on its way. It was growing. The following summer, it also became the collecting agency for the Reading Municipal Light Dept. Thus there were four offices under one roof.

The bank building today houses an insurance office. Mechanics Savings Bank later became Reading Savings Bank, and then merged with Melrose Savings to become MassBank for Savings. The office is now located at the corner of Middlesex Avenue and Main Street, three doors down from the old bank, on the lot where Chief Hill's house stood. For many years, it was the site of Weinberg's Dept. Store.

The Reading Co-operative Bank moved its office to North Wilmington. Its office is across the street from where Harriman's Tannery used to stand.

Boys' Basketball score 94 points against NR

Valence, 'Cats shoot the lights out

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It's been a while since a Wilmington High boys' basketball team has scored 94 points in a game. It's also been a while since a player had seven three-pointers in a game. All of that happened on Friday night for the Wildcats.

After holding a 9-point halftime lead, Wilmington, mainly Valence Nwachukwu, absolutely erupted in the first seven minutes of the second half on their way to a 94-65 victory over North Reading.

Nwachukwu took 11 shots in those 7 minutes and connected on all but two including all five three-pointers which were all swishes. He was absolutely phenomenal finishing with 33 points. It was by far the best perforance he's had thus far in his year plus at WHS.

Add that performance with an electrifying 16 first half points by junior Craig Osgood, who hit four treys, and the 'Cats improved to 4-0 on the young season, bouncing back from what head coach Jim McCune called a disappointing win a few days earlier against Lynnfield.

McCune took all of his starters out — who combined for 61 of the team's points — with about ten minutes to go in the game except for Nwachukwu who stayed in about a minute longer and came out with 9:43 to go.

From there Wilmington's bench was emptied with every single player getting in, and all but two scoring at least a point.

North Reading certainly won't win the league this year, but they aren't cellar dwellars either. Wilmington was on fire in this game, playing extremely well and shooting very well including 37-of-70 from the floor including a dozen three-pointers.

"That's the Valence that everyone's been talking about," said McCune. "The kids did a good job of finding the hot guy. Besides him, there's not much to say about this game - we wanted to keep their big guy [John Murphy] under control."

The two teams were tied at 9 early on before Wilmington went on a 12-1 run which extended to a 22-6 run. At that time Wilmington led 31-15 with 4:30 to go in the half. The double digit lead stayed that way until the last minute of the half when North Reading put on a late scurry to minimize the lead down to single digits.

The second half became the Nwachukwu show. He drained everything in sight - every shot that came out of his hands was a beauty. From the left wing, the right wing, top of the key or in the lane, Nwachukwu sound the net making it look effortless. He came out with a strong ovation and his teammates finished it out.

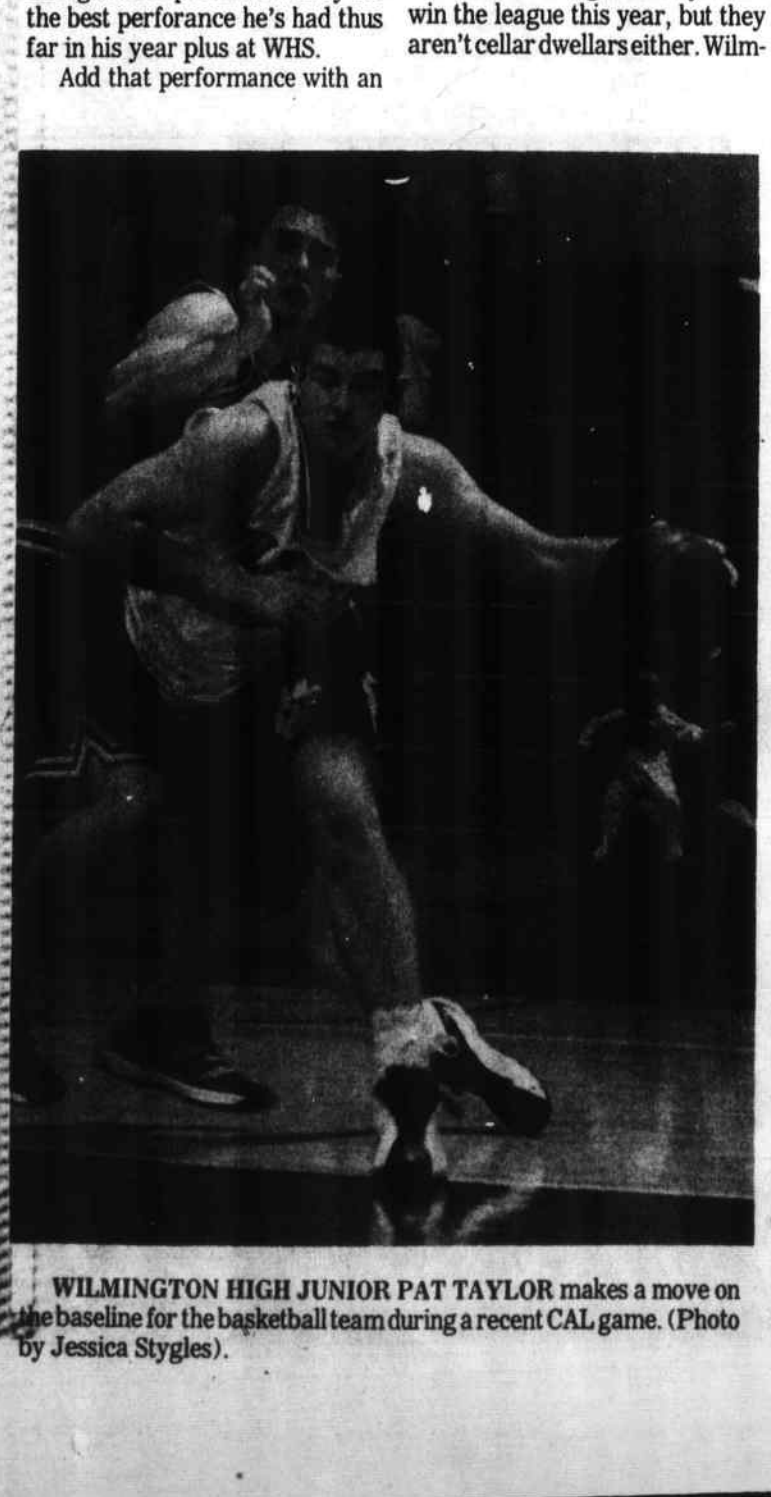

Wilmington will try to repeat as champions in the annual Knights of Columbus/Larry McGrath 4-team Christmas Tournament beginning on Thursday. Tewksbury will face Whittier Tech at 6:00, and Wilmington and Burlington will follow at 7:45. The losing teams of the two games will play for the consolation game on Friday at 6, with the two winners playing for the championship game at 7:45.

Near tragedy for local hockey player

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

What started out as a simple 2-on-2 defensive drill almost turned into tragedy for Wilmington High junior Jonathan Fish of the Wildcat ice hockey team.

During a WHS ice hockey practice on Thursday, December 13, Fish took what appeared to be a harmless body check during a defensive drill. After the hit, Fish went to the bench where he complained to assistant coach Chip Bruce that he was having severe stomach pains.

Bruce checked out Fish and suggested that he go to the hospital with perhaps a spleen injury. When Fish and his mother Barbara went to Winchester Hospital, the doctor told him he had muscle bruises and he could take a few days off from practice and return on Monday morning. That never happened. Later that same night, Fish awoke around 1 am because of soreness. As he walked around he went into the bathroom where he blacked out.

"We just heard him fall," said Barbara, who is a nurse at Lahey Clinic in Burlington. "We just heard this crash. He actually fell again when we were in the hallway [taking him to the car on the way to the hospital]. He didn't look good at all. His color was really white and he was sweating. He looked like he was dead."

Jonathan was immediately rushed to the Emergency Room of Winchester Hospital. The doctors were able to save the 10 pints of blood he lost, while they found Fish had a ruptured spleen and a bruised liver. He spent the next four days in Intensive Care Unit where he recovered.

Right now he is back to walking, but isn't 100 percent and probably won't be for another few weeks/months. But for him, his family, the town of Wilmington, Winchester Hospital and the ice hockey team he played with, the position he's in now is certainly a lot better than what he could've been in.

"It was very serious," said Jonathan. "I don't know if I would've died [if my parents didn't hear me]. If I kept ignoring it I would've died. If it wasn't for Chip I'd still be thinking I just had a stomach ache."

Chip's assessment didn't impress the first doctor who all but misdiagnosed Jonathan. When Jonathan and his mother originally went to the hospital after practice they told the doctor that Jonathan's hockey coach thought his injury was spleen related. The doctor responded, "oh really and where did your hockey coach go to medical school?" After that remark Jonathan had a CATSCAN and was told he would be OK and could return to practice a few days later.

"Nothing had shown up on the CATSCAN at all," said Jonathan of the original visit. "And I guess sometimes with injuries like the one I have don't come up right away, especially so early after it happened."

After getting out of the hospital the first time, Fish called both Chip Bruce and head coach Steve Scanlon and told them he was fine and would be back either the next day or would wait until Monday depending on how he felt. But over the next few hours after the original visit, Jonathan's injuries became very sore, especially in his stomach and shoulders.

"I couldn't sleep and I got up," recalled Jonathan of his fall at home. "I need to get up but everything was spinning. I went into the bathroom and that's where I fell. I blacked out for just a few seconds. When I woke back up I was screaming for my parents. I have diabetes so I thought it had something to do with that. I was really scared. I couldn't get up off the floor - I didn't know what was wrong.

"Once my parents came and got me up everything seemed so light. I remember falling again [at the house] and then another time at the hospital."

When he arrived at the hospital, Fish's blood pressure was 70/40. He lost 10 pints of blood, as he was told by the doctors that a body usually has 40 pints of blood. He had bleeding in his back along with the ruptured spleen and bruised liver. As the doctors were working on him, including restoring all of the blood he had lost, Fish had one important question for them.

"Will I be able to play hockey this year?" That's all that mattered to him.

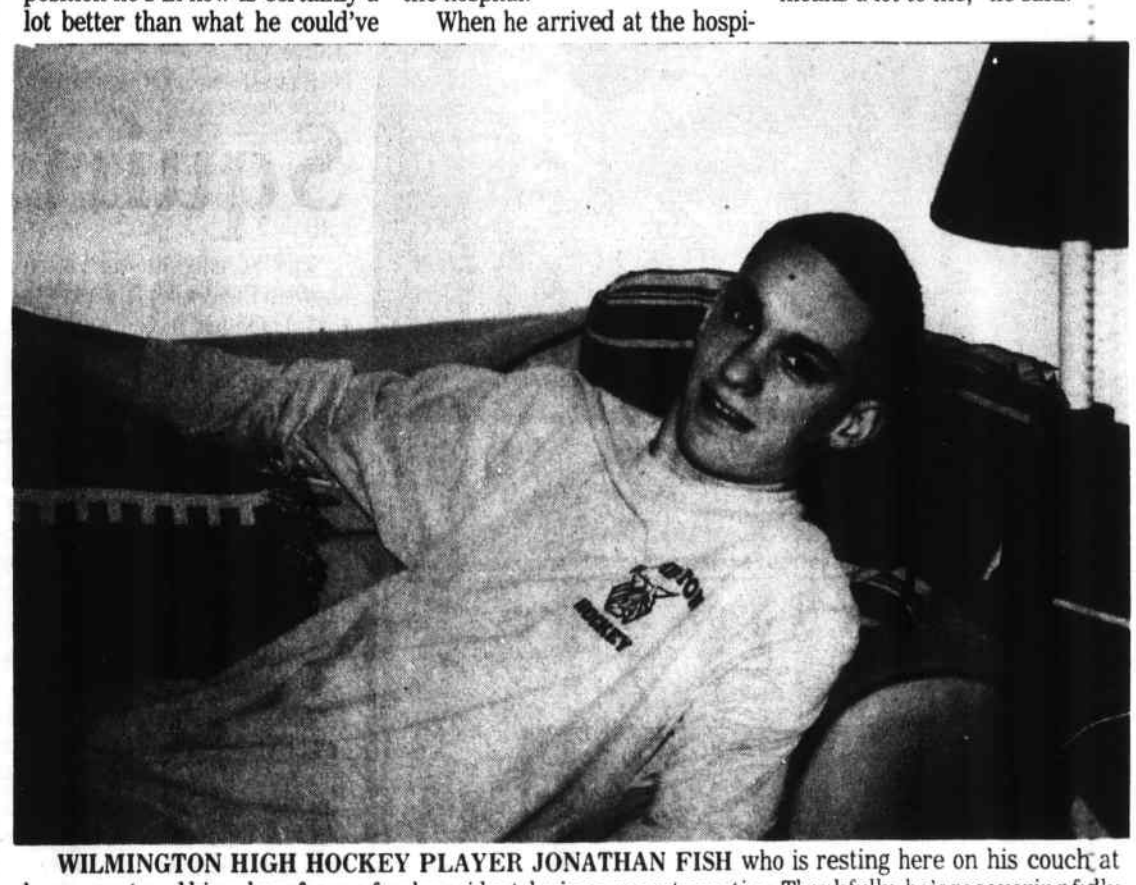

What mattered to the doctors was getting him healthy again without surgery. They were able to do that on Thursday night. At the time they didn't know if he had to have surgery so they ordered him not to eat or have any liquids for three days in case they had to cut him open.

"They kept taking blood checks every two or three hours," he said. "I was hooked up to an oxygen and pulse machine and they'd come in every few hours. They said my body would end up healing and getting back by itself, rather than surgery."

After coming out of the ICU on Monday, December 17, Fish was been resting comfortably at his home on the couch. He has been out of school for a week, but hopes to go back after the Christmas break. His teammates and coaches Steve Scanlon and Chip Bruce has visited him several times. And since the injury, the team has put Fish's number 6 jersey on the wall of their bench as they haven't forgotten him.

"I worked very hard in the off-season to get ready for the season," he said. "And for the season to end after one game really stinks. I'm hoping I'll be able to play later this season but I really don't think I'll be able to. So I'll have to wait 'til next year.

"The coaches and the team have come over and that was really nice. They've been so supportive and concerned. And for them to hang my jersey like that really means a lot to me," he said.

Hockey team back on track

After losing their first two games of the season both by a goal, the Wilmington High ice hockey team stormed back this week with a pair of shutouts.

On Wednesday Wilmington handed one of the better Cape Ann League teams Lynnfield a 6-0 blanking. The 'Cats followed that up on Saturday by beating a weaker North Andover team, 8-0, in a penalty-filled, very physical game in front of the home crowd at Ristuccia Exposition Center.

"Maybe we needed the two losses," said coach Steve Scanlon. "Maybe that was the wake-up call we needed. This was a big week for us. We wanted to get back to the .500 mark after our slow start."

The three-time Cape Ann League champions, played tremendous on Wednesday night against a smaller, but quick Lynnfield team. Wilmington netted two goals in each of the three periods, while goaltender Paul Sferrazza made 21 stops for the shutout. He made 12 stops in the win on Saturday for the back-to-back gems. He's allowed just 4 goals in 4 games thus far for a 1.00 goals against average.

"Paul played really well [on Saturday]," said Scanlon. "He made some great stops back there."

Against Lynnfield, the first line of Geoff Ferreira, Anthony Tomasi and Dan Liberty combined for 7 points including a goal from each of them. Sophomore Dave DeMango had a big night with two goals and an assist, while linemates Joe Luciano (1 goal, 2 assists) and Jack Webb (1 assist) were impressive as well. Defenseman Brian Martinello assisted on Luciano's goal which was the game winner just 8:17 into the game.

On Saturday the two teams combined for 15 penalties. It was a very physical game which got a little chippy in the latter half. Wilmington also lost two players for the game and maybe more as Luciano injured his knee on a body check, and senior co-captain Matt Porter suffered a concussion on a hard body check to the head. Scanlon didn't know the degree of the concussion but anticipated Porter being out for perhaps a week.

Ferreira and DeMango led the way with a pair of goals each. Tomasi added a goal and two assists, while Liberty added three assists. Luciano and Jay Riley had goals, while, Ed Tucker, Greg Buck, Porter and Webb each had one assist.

Wrestling, track teams in action

WHS Sports Round-up

By JAMIE POTE

The Wilmington High wrestling team was very busy this past week with a dual meet on Wednesday, followed by a five team meet on Saturday morning. Also, the Wildcat indoor track teams faced North Reading on Wednesday to cap the week off in sports.

Wrestlers go 2-3 in week

The 'Cats undefeated season came to a halt this past week when they lost to rival North Andover. Wilmington had just one league loss last year and it came to the Scarlet Knights who went on to win the league title. This time around the match was very close, but Wilmington lost by two matches.

On Saturday morning, Wilmington participated in a five team meet, winning two and losing two. The 'Cats defeated Saugus 48-6 and Minuteman Tech, 51-18, but were defeated by Tyngboro, 37-36, and Burlington, 42-39, in two extremely close matches. After the busy week Wilmington is 5-3 on the season with all three losses by less than ten points.

In the five team meet, the highlights came from junior Derek Hanley who won all four of his matches all by pins. John McMahan also went 4-0 including 3 pins. Roman Walsh (130-135), Jordan Weiner (135) and Phil O'Brien (215) all won three matches each, while, Chris Minghella (112/119), Jason Cranford (160) and Ken Luongo (275) all won two matches.

Wilmington will continue on the road over its next four matches. This Thursday the 'Cats will travel to Arlington to face the Spy Ponders and New Bedford in a tri-meet. That will be followed by a tri-meet on Saturday as the team will participate in the Whittervoke Invitational tournament held at Whittier Tech in Haverhill.

Track teams fall to Hornets

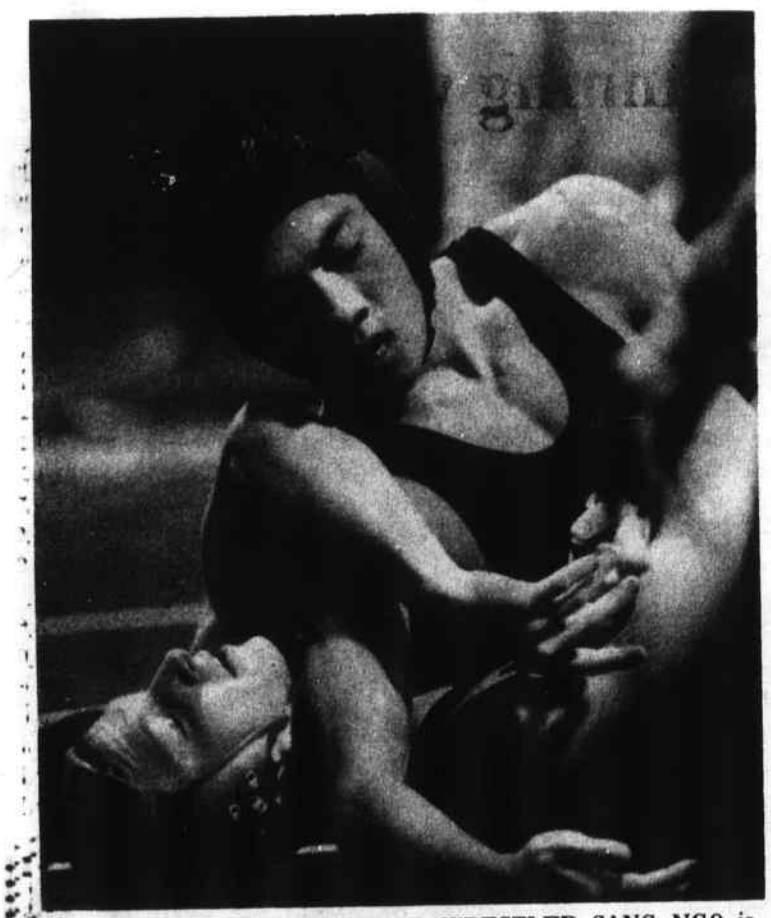

The boys' indoor track team lost to North Reading, 59-27. Wilmington had just one first place finish as Matt Dorothy won the shot put with a throw of 43-10 75. Steve Ciulla, Steve Berry and Jason Gustin contributed with solid performances. Ciulla took a third in the shot put (30-7.50) and third in the 50 (6.1). Berry took a second in the high jump (5-8) and third in the hurdles (7.6). Gustin took a second in the 1,000 (2:36.6) and a third in the high jump (5-6).

In the two-mile Wilmington took second and third thanks to Dan Vassallo (10:54.8) and Shayne Gaffney (10:59.4). Adam Jensen and Chris Murray took a second and a third in the mile at 5:02.1 and 5:18.5, respectively. Finally, Brian Schell took a second in the 600 (1:25.4) and Matt Goldblatt took a third in the 300 (37.8).

As for the girls they lost 53.33-32.67 to North Reading bringing their record to 2-2 thus far. Wilmington had three first place finishes as junior Michelle Brush won the two-mile (12:47) and Debbie Lyons continues to impress as she won the 1,000 with a time of 3:16. The mile relay team of Brush, Melissa Marques, Katherine Chin and Michaela Rufo won with a combined time of 4:36. Speaking of Rufo she also swiped a pair of second places in the 300 (42.7) and the high jump (4-8).

Wilmington also had a bunch of third place finishes including: Stephanie Winn in the 50-hurdles (8.3); Tina Walklang in the 50 (7.0); Caitlin McNabb in the 300 (44.4), Mary Sullivan in the 600 (1:50.5) and Caitlin Foley in the mile (6:42).

Both track teams faced Masconomet on Wednesday while this paper was being printed. The freshmen and sophomores will participate in a meet held at Reggie Lewis Center on Sunday.

Basketball team collects first win

Girls sting quick in second half

By JAMIE POTE

The Wilmington High girls' basketball team will probably never be distinguished as a great shooting team because they're not. But what they do have is a bunch of pretty good athletes who work hard and who go to the hoop.

Friday night those ingredients were the difference in the 'Cats first win of the season, 49-38, over North Reading held at the Cushing Memorial Gymnasium.

Wilmington connected for just 19-of-65 shots from the floor and 11-of-25 from the free throw line and those numbers probably won't get too many teams many victories. Trailing by three points with 9:50 to go, Wilmington finished the game on a 25-14 run, with many of the points coming from players driving the lane, players getting fouled in the lane, or put back shots from underneath.

"We stepped it up in the second half," said coach Bob Gillis. "[North Reading] had trouble with the trap and we started to run away with it from there."

Sophomore Lauren Rappoli led the way offensively for the 'Cats with 17 points. She is a very talented athlete who does very well in the lane. She only scored one basket from the floor in the second half as her other 7 points came from the free throw line which were crucial.

If Rappoli can continue to drive to the lane and either score, get fouled or drop passes off inside to the bigger players like Sheri Thresher or Keri Gillespie, or even kick the ball out to the wing to Kristin Sauve — a terrific perimeter shooter — than perhaps Bob Gillis's team can start a run of wins.

"I think at the start of the season we were playing as individuals and not as a team," said senior Danielle Spry, who came off the bench and had 8 big second half points. "During practices you can look at yourself and at the team and realize what skills everyone has. [Friday] it all came together."

Wilmington led by three points at halftime but quickly trailed as North Reading began the second half on an 8-1 run. Senior co-captain Kristin Sauve tied the game on a three-point play, but Spry gave Wilmington the lead for good with several big baskets.

"I think we looked for the open person [better on Friday]," said Spry. "At first we were nervous and started panicing but then we started to make better passes."

Rappoli added a few free throws and Spry went up strong for a huge basket giving Wilmington a 7-point lead. From there the 'Cats finished the game in cruise control.

"[Spry] was a big, big boost for us," said Gillis. "She gets a little nervous sometimes but she came alive which was very important for us."

Besides the 19 combined points of Rappoli and Spry, Sauve was solid with 11 points and 11 rebounds. Thresher and Gillespie struggled shooting but they combined for 15 rebounds which was also a huge key.

"Bird [Thresher] stepped up too," said Gillis. "She did well posting up and on the boards."

The victory was actually a pretty big one for the team - a loss would've put them at 0-4 and their backs against the walls. Now at 1-3, the 'Cats will try to string a few wins together starting with a non-league game Friday at Burlington (7:00) before they come home against Ipswich on Wednesday, January 2.

Shawsheen Tech round-up

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech boys' basketball team had an up-and-down week, but one constant was guard Mark Stewart

The senior scored a team-high 23 points in the Rams' 57-36 loss to Northeast and then led Shawsheen with seven points in an ugly 39-32 loss to Chelsea.

In the win over Northeast, Stewart also recorded six assists, five steals and four rebounds.

The game also featured 12 points from Jason Banusiewicz.

The Rams were outplayed on the boards in their loss to Chelsea.

Chelsea grabbed 20 offensive rebounds and won the game with four free throws in the final minute of play. Chuck Timmons' 3-point basket had cut the Chelsea lead to 35-32 with 1:04 to play.

Shawsheen plays Lowell Catholic in the opening round of the Tyngsboro Christmas Tournament at 3 p.m. on Wednesday.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The female Rams had a similar week to their male counterparts.

Shawsheen lost a heartbreaker for its first loss of the year as Karen O'Meara hit a 12-foot shot at the buzzer to lift Tyngsboro to a 34-33 win on Tuesday.

On Thursday, Shawsheen downed Chelsea, 50-49, behind Ashley Morgado's 17 points.

Wilmington's Kelly Gillis grabbed 13 rebounds and Kristin Porfido and Amanda Lauzon added 11 points each in the win.

The Rams play against Greater Lawrence at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday in the opening round of the Tyngsboro Christmas Tournament.

HOCKEY

The Rams improved to 2-1 on the year with a 7-2 win over Dracut on Saturday.

Bobby Giordano recorded a hat trick and Nick Dolan and Dave McCoy scored two goals apiece as goaltender Justin Brady made 28 saves for the win.

Giordano added an assist for the Rams, who rallied from a 2-1 deficit. Wilmington's Brian Corcoran recorded two assists.

On Thursday, the Rams were routed by Concord-Carlisle, 8-3.

Squirt A's crush Triton, 8-1

The Wilmington Squirt A team showed the Valley League that they belonged in the top Squirt Division by thrashing the triton Squirt A's in their fifrst gam ein the White North 8-1. The Cats jumped on the board early as Nick Riccio skated the puck into the Triton zone as his line mates were changing and fired a shot that defleced to a hard charging Casey Pickett for the goal. Nick tallied on his next shift as he took a feed from Andrew Goosens and Dan Cushing and beat the goalie.

Eric Siegel put the Cats up 3-0 as he single handedly worked the puck out of the corner and carved his way to the net and beat the net minder for the score while shorthanded. Triton was impressive as they skated well with the puck and were moving the puck to the open player. The Cats defense was equally impressive as they handled the Triton forwards by using their speed. Dan Cushing, filling in on defense did a nice job in this game as he and partner Sean Callahan worked aggressively in the Triton zone getting many quality shots on net.

Steve Dunnett and Cam Fitzpatrick, the other defensive pairing were very physical in this game as they worked hard to keep the shots on Anthony Botte to a minimum. There were several quality shots that Anthony had to stop as Anthony came to play today barely missing a shutout as Triton notched their lone goal of the game with just over a minute left. The Cats have continued to play very strong defensively over the last few games. The Cats popped in two goals in the second period as Eric Siegel and Casey Pickett worked the puck to Jeff Harris for the score and Andrew Goossens scored on the power play as nick Riccio and Sean Callahan worked the puck to him in the lsot. Dan Cushing and Nick set up Andrew for his second of the game with just under four minutes left giving the Cats a 6-0 advantage.

Although Triton did score with over a minute left in the game, the Cats answered with two of their own. The first as Steven Dunnett sent the puck to Casey Pickett in the Wilmington zone and she hit Jeff Harris streaking to the Wilmington blue line and Jeff beat the lone derfenseman and then beat the goalie for his second of the game and Rick Riccio rounded out the scoring with his second of the game with the helper to Dan Cushing. Great all around effort attained in this contest as the Cats continue to move the puck well. With Masco on the schedule next, the cats look to avenge their only loss of the year the day after Christmas.

Mite E's tie Methuen

The Wilmington Mite E's skated to a tie with a tough Methuen C team Saturday morning at Methuen High School.

The Wildcats came out a little sluggish and the Rangers took advantage scoring a goal early in the first period to take the 1-0 lead. Mike Ciampa kept the Cats in the game with some spectacular saves, one outstanding glove save on a breakaway early in the second to keep the game close.

Wilmington started skating late in the game and tied up the game when Brian Pickett blocked a clearing shot by the Methuen defenseman and went in all alone beating the goalie on a great individual effort.

Cameron Owens gave the Wildcats their first lead just a few minutes later when he stole a pass in the opponents' end and rifled a shot into the open corner. The defense from Wilmington was holding strong, Nick Dirienzo, Cameron Babine, Matt Toto, Gordon Fitch and Jeff Goossens were not allowing any shot to make it through to Ciampa.

Methuen tied the game at two early in the third when a Ranger forward shot a puck toward the Wilmington net which deflected off a Wildcat defensemen and into the net. Just 20 seconds later the Wildcats recaptured the lead when Linden Hayes knocked in a rebound on a wild skirmish in front of the Ranger goalie.

The line of Cameron Collins, Paul Barbaro, and Brian Callahan were applying relentless pressure but could not put one past the Methuen netminder.

Methuen tied the game up again late in the third when a Ranger forward got behind the defense and went in and scored. Ciampa kept them in the game the rest of the way turning away numerous scoring opportunities.

The Cats almost won the game with 10 seconds left when Paul Barbaro broke down the right side and fired a shot that the Methuen goalie just saved with his pad. Cameron Collins was there for the rebound but hit the post with three seconds left. The Wildcats moved to 3-2-1 record and because of their impressive play were moved up a division to the Mite Red East.

Squirt E's continue winning ways

The Wilmington Squirt E's sponsored by Darmody, Merlino & Co., moved to 4-1-2 on Sunday, December 23, 2001 by tieing Andover 1-1. The Squirt E's have moved up a division in the Valley League and this was their first test in the new division.

The Squirt E's held their ground behind a strong performance in net by Ed Sheridan. Sheridan stopped 20 Andover shots. The high paced game was a thrill for all to watch. Coach Andy Good and Assistant Coaches Ed Sheridan, Chris Marten and Ed Colosimo liked that the team hustled and played hard for all three periods.

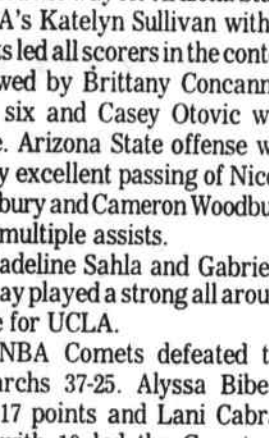

The strong defense of Dean Moran, Chris Colosimo, and Scott Layton once again was a definite highlight.

The first two periods of this game saw no goals scored with the shots on net almost equal. Wilmington put 12 shots on net during the first two periods and Andover put 10.

Wilmington finally scored first at 10:16 into the third period with a goal by Justin Riveria. Riveria, assisted by Dean Moran, skated in the offensive zone, made a graceful fake around the defenseman and put a nice wristshot into the net. Wilmington held the 1-0 lead until 2:08 when Andover scored.

Wilmington's offense of Joe Favuzza, Steve Piscatelli, Tim Martin, Ryan Derian, Ryan Brothers, Tim Patrie, Melissa Good, Corey Lee, and Justin Riveria put a total of 15 shots on net—next time another one will surely go in!

Wilmington Squirt C's styling lately

The Wilmington Squirt C's, sponsored by the Wilmington Arena Authority, played two different style games last week but came away victorious in both as they defeated Andover and Danvers in Dual State and Valley League competition.

Wilmington 7, Andover 2

Although Wilmington had won two previous games against Andover in the parity rounds they wanted a good strong effort against a team which came into last Thursday's match-up as one of the two undefeated teams in the Dual State regular season. Wilmington got that strong effort and more as they dealt Andover their first loss, 7-2.

Four point performances from Brendan Collins (3 goals, 1 assist) and Paul Duffy (4 assists) and three points from Patrick Boudreau (2 goals, 1 assist) were among the many highlights in Wilmington's complete domination of Andover. The undermanned Wildcats out-hustled and outskated their opponent from the opening face-off to the final buzzer.

Their passing game was at it's best as the defensemen and forwards moved the puck with speed and accuracy. Wilmington got only one goal in the 1st period, even though they controlled the play in the offensive zone. Some big saves by the Andover goaltender and a few more shots rung off the posts kept Wilmington from running away with it early. At 7:49 of the period winger Charles Barbaro got the puck in deep to Duffy. Duffy's pass from behind the net connected with Collins, who's shot put Wilmington up 1-0.

In the 2nd period an Andover forward skated out front and, with a crowd in front, knocked in the puck to tie the game. The tie didn't last long as 18 seconds later Boudreau fed Collins, streaking down the middle. Collins ripped a hard shot into the net, returning the lead to Wilmington. A hooking penalty to Andover put the Wildcats on the powerplay toward the end of the period. Boudreau, Barbaro, and Eric Parsons demonstrated their passing skills as they kept Andover chasing after them in all directions. Only the play of the Andover goalie and yet another shot off the post kept Wilmington from scoring a powerplay goal.

Wilmington erupted for 5 goals in the 3rd period. Early in the period, at 11:11, Duffy found Collins at mid ice. Collins raced in and his upper right corner shot completed his hat trick and put Wilmington up 3-1. About halfway through the period Andover tried for a comeback but goaltender Steve Cadigan made a fine stop on a bouncing puck. Wilmington's defense was also strong as Ryan Kennedy made a 'soccer style' stop in front of the net. Chris Robertson made several steals and converted the plays into offensive chances. Charlie Gendron was again solid in front of the net and at the point.

With about 5 minutes left Boudreau scored two quick goals. The first one, at 5:26, came when he fired a long shot into the net. At 5:05 Kennedy kept the puck in at the blue line and moved it up to Boudreau. Using Parsons as a screen in front, Boudreau shot and Wilmington was up 5-1.

The fore-checking and work along the boards by Matt Larffarello, Parsons, and Barbaro was an important ingredient in Wilmington's success. The passing skills continued to impress and at 3:45 Gendron made a good move to keep the puck in and pass it to Duffy. Duffy and Collins quickly set up Pat Enwright, who scored Wilmington's 6th goal.

After Andover got one goal back on a hard shot from the right side Wilmington scored their final goal, which resulted from another great pass. Duffy sent Barbaro in alone and he fired it past the goalkeeper. Duffy's assist was his 4th of the game.

Wilmington 2, Danvers 0

On Saturday at the MVF II the dazzling passes and explosive offense of their previous game may have been missing from Wilmington's play in their Valley League contest with Danvers but they still pulled out a 2-0 win. Much of the credit goes to goaltender Steve Cadigan, who stopped many tough shots on his way to his 4th shutout of the 2001-02 season.

Wilmington's offense was provided by Brendan Collins. Following up on his hat trick performance from Thursday night, he scored both Wildcat goals against Danvers. Early in the 1st period, center Paul Duffy sent Collins in on a break and his backhand shot beat the Danvers goaltender. Later in the period, defenseman Cody Wilkins lifted a clearing pass up the right side. The sailing puck was tipped by winger Charles Barbaro over to Collins in the middle. Collins' shot put Wilmington up 2-0 and that was the end of the scoring as both teams played a tight defensive game in the 2nd and 3rd periods.

Cadigan and his Danvers counterpart traded big stops throughout the game. Cadigan made several stick saves including one in the 1st period when a Danvers forward was left alone in front. The Danvers goalie was busy also. In the 2nd period Barbaro set up his wingmate Matt Larffarello. Th netminder made a spectacular save off of Larffarello's tough shot. In the 3rd period he made another great stop off a hard shot by Patrick Boudreau.

Wilmington's defense played a strong game. Wilkins, Charlie Gendron, Ryan Kennedy and Chris Robertson all contributed with break-ups and steals. Robertson got back on one rushing Danvers forward to hook his stick and break up the play. The Wilmington forwards also aided the defense with solid back-checking. Barbaro, Eric Parsons, and Pat Enwright kept coming back to hound the Danvers forwards. The defense and back-checking, combined with Cadigan's stellar play in net, prevented Danvers from scoring and enabled Wilmington to chalk up a 2-0 shutout win.

The Squirt C's will face two strong teams, Woburn and Billerica, in Valley League play this week as well as compete against North Andover, Tewksbury, and Reading in Tewksbury's Annual George 'Timmy' Ernest Christmas Tournament

Tewksbury Pee Wee 3's earn victory

The Tewksbury PeeWee 3 Redmen came away with a pre-Christmas present this past Sunday at Skate 3 Tyngsboro. Coming off of an early morning defeat on Saturday, the Redmen wanted a win and Stoneham was the victim.

Three minutes into the game, Forward Stephen Dame slid a nice pass to Center Neil Marino. Neil went 5 hole and that would prove to be the only goal Tewksbury would need. Forwards Brian Kapust, Joe Bucci and Kevin Swansburg provided heavy offensive pressure.

Also pounding the goalie with shots was the line of Matt Donahue, Billy Medugno and Kevin Aguiar. Medugno figured in the second Tewksbury goal as he completed a pass to Winger Rollie Jenkins who put the puck right where it belonged at 7:07. The Defensive Corps of Brett Little, Chris Di Iorio, Steven Gatti and Danny Boyle were outstanding at stopping Stoneham's drives.

The second period saw Tewksbury's left-handed goalie, Matt Crowley, put on a show. Matt was fantastic in net, robbing Stoneham at every shot. While every member of the Redmen offense worked hard at passing and shooting, it was Defenseman Dangerous Danny Boyle who netted the only goal of the period. Kevin Aguiar let go with a rocket slapshot that was a stick save. The puck came straight out to Boyle who took it around the net to the far side and let a wrist shot go that was never seen by the goalie.

Brett Little started the scoring in the last period when he completed a setup from Neil Marino and Rollie Jenkins at 4:28. Crowley came up with some big saves, as he turned away alot of attacks. The "D" kept hitting the boards and coming up with the puck through-out the game. Kevin Aguiar was playing along side Medugno and Donahue, replacing the flu-battered Derek Murphy(get well soon Derek).

At 8:55 Aguiar fed a beauty of a pass to Donahue, who popped it in for his 5th goal of the season. Tewksbury skated off with a 5-0 shutout for Head Coach Don Swansburg and Assistants Neil Donahue and Paul Crowley. Merry Christmas.

Donald Berube ran the floor well on both ends of the court with aggressive defense and 14 points. Pranav Patel continued his great all around play hustling his way to six points and a number of nifty passes to open teammates while Kyle Coffey added 4 points.

Solid defense and rebounding by Neil Marino and Eddie Donovan led the Jazz to fast break points that were key to the victory. Credit the Heat's Joe Killion for 8 points and Cam Herzog for 10 while Mike Astuti played well on both ends putting up 2 points. Derek Yarossi and Scott Shugrue were hard workers with 5 and 6 points respectively. Chris Hashem continues to improve his whole game every week to be a formidable force to reckon with. Congratulations Jazz.

EAGLES 26/NUGGETS 24

The Eagles soared to a much needed victory in a very close game from start to finish. Keith Tashjian played a big game with 12 points while Mike Parcella added 6. While adding 2 points at the end of the game to clinch things, Steven Tecce played smart offensive ball. Coach Regan claimed this to be the Eagles best game of the season with all the teamwork they displayed. Alex Barbosa, Austin Jewer and David Robertson are credited with defensive awards as they clamped down on the Nuggets each time a run was being made to turn the tide.

Credit Nuggets' James Mazzapica with 4 points, Shane Riddle with 4 points along with excellent ball control while Shawn Lakeman added 2 points in a significant offensive contribution. Defensive Nugget standouts were Chris Heinz, Justin Barbour and Zack Durante. Nugget teamwork was a big factor in this tight contest that literally went down to the last second of the game before the Eagles could celebrate at the buzzer.

CLIPPERS 43/FRIARS 34

The Clippers held off a feisty, never quit Friars team to maintain their undefeated record (5-0). This was a tough win for the Clippers as both teams battled for the ball back and forth all the way. The Clippers would pull ahead then the Friars would make a run and catch up. Trailing in the 4th quarter, the Friars tied the game at 30 with half a period to go. But during the last 3 minutes the Clippers pulled it together and extended their lead as time expired.

Clipper offensive standouts were Bryan O'Keefe, Alex Fredriksen, and Charlie Lucia with 10 points apiece. TJ Kane, Steven Alves and Connor Flannagan spearheaded the Clippers' defensive stands. The Friars defensive player of the game was Chris Teixiera who had numerous steals and rebounds. The Friars challenged the Clippers for every rebound with Jim Devine leading the way with 10 rebounds and a couple big blocks. Offensive rebounding by Vishal Patel netted him 12 points. Jim Maksian played an aggressive game and scored 7 points. Mike White, Dave D'Entremont and Mike Giannatassio had 4 points each.

NETS 37/BULLETS 32

The Nets continue to show improvement every week and this time the just desserts fell on their side of the table to pick up their first win of the season. Jubilation was the order of the day for the Nets as they post their highest offensive production of the year while working some of their best defensive stands. Ryan O'keefe, Mike Hanifin and Tom Dragon receive the Nets offensive awards for their holiday efforts while Tyler Deshler, Chris Borden and Paul Bunyan received honors as defensive standouts.

The Bullets were hoping that a win would put them in uncontested 3rd place behind two undefeated teams but it didn't come off that way. The Bullets had plenty of chances but the ball just didn't want to go in. DJ Minton had a game high 16 points while Myles White added 8 and Michael Shind put one in at an opportune time. Dave Barbato, Mike DeMattia and Anthony Hill led bullet defense. Congratulations to both teams as they deserve the holiday week off.

SUNS 33/PISTONS 30

It was a very physical game from start to finish. Both teams came into the game with an even record (2-2) on the season and both teams were looking for an early gift this year. The Pistons started a little slow in the first quarter with Anthony Garcia and Matt Bruno each dropping in a basket to keep the Pistons in the first quarter. The Suns led 11 to 8 after the 1st quarter only to see the Pistons' Josh Pires nail a three pointer to even things up in the opening minute of the 2nd and roll to a 20 to 17 lead at the half.

The Pistons fought hard with Jonathan Chin, Matt Bradley and Kevin Lundbolm grabbing rebounds and stealing the ball but the Suns retook the lead by 3 at the end of 3 setting the stage for a tough 4th quarter, which was played evenly. Credit the Pistons' Mike Deacetis, Jim Tarpey, Stephen Foley, and James Putney for putting in an excellent game. Suns' high scorers were Mike Omalley (on fire with 7), Eric Restuccia and Anthony Miano (both with 5).

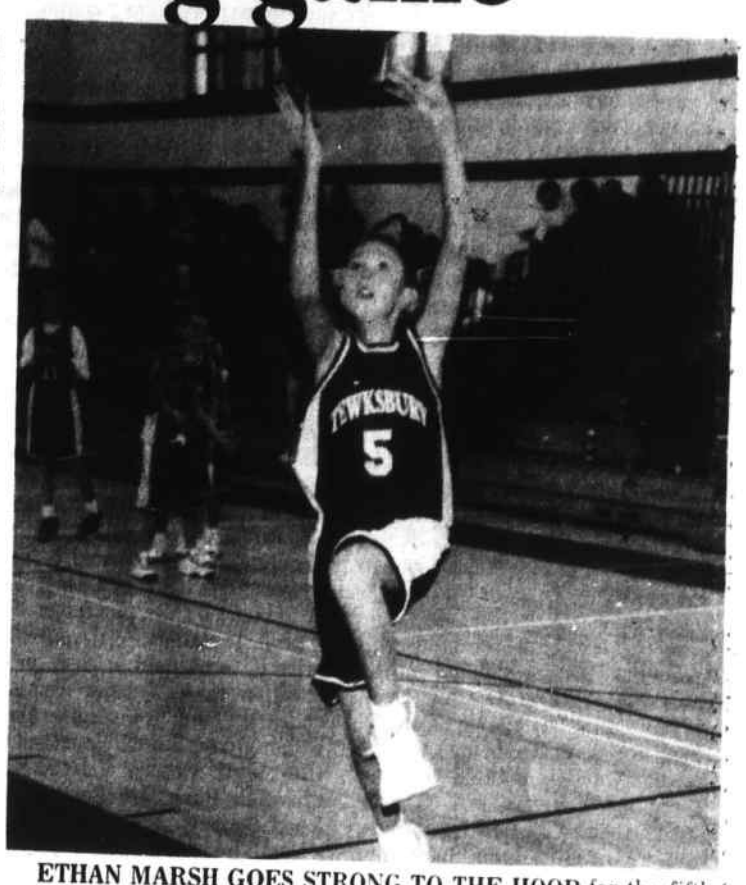

But the play of the game came when Mark Mastone grabbed a rebound with under a minute left to play in the 4th quarter with the score tied at 30. Mastone charged down the right side of the court with the Pistons in hot pursuit. Driving hard Mark went for the lay up, there was a whistle on the play, the ball rolled around the rim, we all held our breath, then it dropped in. The referee called it good "and one", so there was a foul shot to make, which he put in to seal the game. Whew, doesn't get much closer than that. Great job suns!

SENIOR DIVISION
ROCKETS 65- HAWKS 30

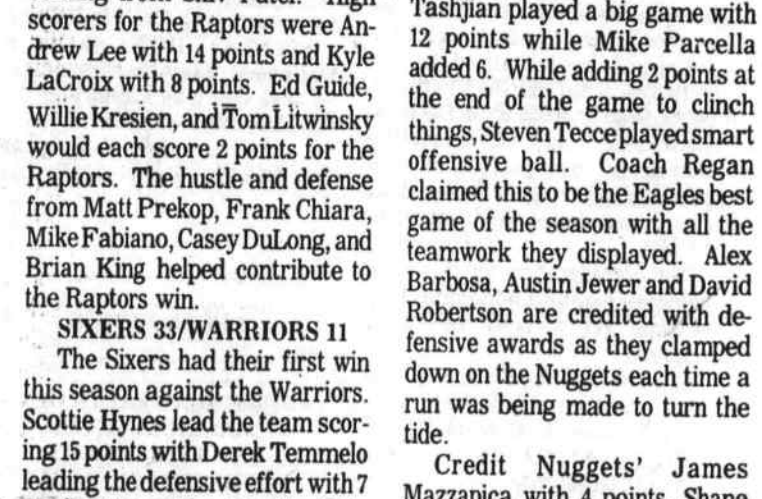

The Rockets broke open what was a close first quarter battle, scoring 31 points in the second while allowing only three to take a 39-15 haft time lead. Kevin Ianetta scored 16 of his 22 points during that second quarter blitz. Steve Mello pitched in with six first half points, giving him ten for the game. The Rockets continued with tough defensive play the rest of the way, allowing just seven and eight points in the third and fourth quarters, respectively. Hats off to Billy Tarpy and Andrew Singelais with outstanding play at both ends of the court throughout the contest.

Scott Mello, Billy McKenna and Justine Illsley each contributed with two points, while Jeff Haslam, Kevin Gillotte, Brian Mello and Shane Harrington added four a piece. Haslam also grabbed 13 rebounds in the game. Jason Montes picked up nine rebounds and scored 11 points for a fine all around effort. The win is the fifth for the Rockets as they remain on top of the senior division.

Offensively, the Hawks were led by Greg Decelle, and Joe Coakley with 9 and 8 points re-

BOYS 5TH GRADE TRAVEL TEAM

The Tewksbury 5th Grade Boys Basketball team has shown great progress and hustle so far this season. Their hard work has paid off as they have won their last two games and moved up to a .500 record.

There have been numerous highlights so far in the campaign. Led by the outstanding efforts of Brendan Coughlan, Greg Kelly, Ethan Marsh, and Paul Spada , the Redmen made it to the finals of the Turkey Shootout. During that tournament they beat tough teams from Northboro, Winchester, and Dracut. The opponent in the final was a strong Billerica team that had beat Tewksbury by 25 just one week earlier. With the tenacious defense of Kyle Stocki , Ryan Sugrue, Kevin Pitts, and Chase Bartrum this game turned out much differently.

The team fought hard and lost by only five. Another highlight was a road contest with Lowell. Tyler Flaherty, Mike Hood, and Sean Teel combined to score 31 points to secure the victory. The winning ways continued for the Redmen against Dracut. Ronnie Wallace's baseline jumper with eight seconds left helped give the team a one point victory. The team's best overall effort would follow against North Reading. Nine players got in the scoring column and everyone played outstanding defense in a 39-25 victory.

In a non-basketball note, congratulations are in order to Ethan Marsh and Ronnie Wallace. During the 5th-6th Grade Geography Bee, Ron came in 3rd place and Ethan took home the Gold !!!

Congratulations to the team on their progress to date. Keep up the good work.

BOYS 6TH GRADE TRAVEL

After capturing the 6th grade championship, in the Tewksbury Thanksgiving Turkey Shootout the team continued on its winning ways. The team won all four games in the Turkey Shoot Out to claim the trophy. Recent victories in league play over Haverhill, Chelmsford and Pelham allowed the boys to remain undefeated.

A key match up against Lowell earlier in the season saw Tewksbury come up with the victory! With a Merrimack Valley League record of 8 wins 0 losses the team is well on its way to an excellent season. Members of the team are: Justin Berquist, Scott Darby, Vinny DePierro, Pat Devlin, Michael Ferriero, Travis Ianetta, Tommy Joyce, Eric Medina, Brian Morrison, Corey Ryser, Samir Shah, and Justin Torname,

Wilmington Squirt D's enjoy shut out victory

A satisfying performance and 3-0 victory over Valley League rival Saugus helped the nine and 10-year-olds on the Wilmington Squirt D hockey team deal with the otherwise excruciating countdown to Christmas last week.

The win for the D's on Monday in Malden was their first as the newest entrants into the Silver North Division, and their second consecutive shutout since suffering their own shutout loss against Chelmsford in Dual State competition on December 12.

The shutout loss has proven as motivating to the D's as any Knute Rockne pep talk, and it has definitely shown in their last two games. Since the loss, Wilmington has scored 10 goals and given up none behind a well oiled offense and defense that have meshed effectively and displayed some timely, unselfish passing.

On the defensive side of the house the past two games, the old stalwarts of Sean Tavares, Brian Fitzpatrick, Kyle Gaffey and Alex Williams raised the bar a notch with some outstanding forechecking, clearing passes and blocks, while the D's Valley League goalie, Zach Rosa, flanked by his excellent defensemen at the net, seemed to mutate into a human vacuum cleaner for the 72 minutes it took to play the games.

And on offense, everyone has stepped it up a bit too, proving the sometimes forgotten notion that a pass or assist is as valuable as a goal.

On defense against Saugus on Monday, Brian Fitzpatrick, in particular, stood out and was simply everywhere, especially whenever Saugus posed a scoring threat.

Meanwhile, Rosa stopped a career high 14 shots on net to claim his second consecutive shutout.

Offensively, the Cats struck once in each period against Saugus.

The first period score came early when John Moriarity and Bret Kidik crashed th enet and Moriarty rammed it in to put the Wildcats up 1-0. Then later with just eight seconds left in the second, center Brian Coutu pursued his own rebound across the front of the net and knocked it in the opposite corner to make it Wilmington by two. Jon See earned an assist.

The crowning score for Wilmington came in the third when Bret Kidik took a nice Brian Coutu pass from the corner and deposited it into the net with 8:44 left to seal the win for Wilmington, 3-0.

At forward, Sam Grant, Dom McCann, Tom Callahan and Andrew Flodin kept the puck moving for Wilmington and kept Saugus off their game ot help bring home the much needed win for the Cats.

This week, the Squirt D's will participate in a vacation tournament at Janas Rink in Lowell, where they are expected to content with some pretty strong competition while enjoying a break from school.

Fifth graders continue to improve

The Tewksbury Fifth Grade Boys Basketball team has shown great progress and hustle so far this season. Their hard work has paid off as they have won their last two games and moved up to a .500 record.

There have been numerous highlights so far in the campaign. Led by the outstanding efforts of Brendan Coughlan, Greg Kelly, Ethan Marsh, and Paul Spada, the Redmen made it to the finals of the Turkey Shootout. During that tournament they beat tough teams from Northboro, Winchester and Dracut.

The opponent in the final was a strong Billerica team that had beaten Tewksbury by 25 just one week earlier. With the tenacious defense of Kyle Stocki, Ryan Sugrue, Kevin Pitts and Chase Bartrum this game turned out much differently. The team fought hard and lost by only five points.

Another highlight was a road contest with Lowell. Tyler Flaherty, Mike Hood and Sean Teel combined to score 31 points to secure the victory. The winning ways continued for the Redmen against Dracut. Ronnie Wallace's baseline jumper with eight seconds left helped give the team a one point victory.

Congratulations to the team on their progress to date. Keep up the good work!

"A Christmas Tear"

(The following short story about Christmas was submitted by Wakefield resident and writer Kevin Joseph Lopes and we felt it would be entertaining to the readers of Middlesex East. We hope you enjoy it.)

By Kevin Joseph Lopes

Looking into a sullen gray December sky my mouth opens wide as I place my warm tongue gently into the frosty air.

Sampling winters' down my weathered face of almost a centruy of time, embraces the gripping sting of north wind, Weary tears begin to trickle from my historical eyes as the crystillized gifts of winter fall from the white heavens above.

My eyes begin to overflow like a mountain strea, in spring time with the liquified remnants of the frozen season. The once chill of winterdisappears and a jopyous smilc arrives to this old woman's face.

These salty tears flow not from sadness or pain, they flow for the holiday, Christmas itself.

This is my story, Sarah Helmsworth remembered from long ago when charity, hope and love left me one Christmas.

I, Sar ah was a young girl of eight years and had one brotner three year old Christian. Our father left upon Christian's birth and mother was left to keep us healthy, happy and together. uother camouflaged her feelings for father but would always defend his memory displaying a picture of himn proudly upon the mantle over the fireplace.

Christian and I helped mother with daily chores rising at five in the morn. The long hours of work made mother old before her years but she always displayed her heart-warming smile muffling any signs of pain or discomfort.

Early in Dewcember of that unusually snowy year mopther took ill. Strong as she was she could not keep her illness disguised within her withering frame. As the days and nights of December slowly passed mother's hea;lth further declined.

Simple tasks liking arising from bed became an unbearable struggle. Eventually mother failed at that task also. To me feel the job of doing the chores and of course, Christian.

Mother, once a large vibrant woman was transformed into a woman frail and helpless. I could do no more than comfort her and try to claim some of her tortuous pain but that would not be enough. One Christmas eve sickness grasped the last of her will and she was taken to the hospital.

Christian and I followed close behind the horse drawn carriage as it progressed through the uneven cobble stone streets. We shivered not from the figid cold but from fear of the plague that was destroying our beloved mother.

In her hospital room I stood by her bedsside grap[ing her hand as Christian wept silently in the corner.

Drying his eyes I convinced him that mother would soon be well and coming home. With an angelic smile she closed her distressed eyes and fell silently asleep. To hide my feelings I walked into the hallway and began to release my painful tears.

As the salty droplets drew upon my face I overhead a nurse talking with a strange man dressed in a coal black suit and ridisulously large top hat. The nurse casually mentioned my mother;s name and pronounced that mother would Every Christmas my Aunt Nora sends me neckties as presents and every spring and summer I use them to tie up my tomato plants. Those outrageous designs and colors really scare those demon Japanese Beetles and tomato worms away. Fire Chief Gene Doherty would like to borrow my Labrador Retriever dog again this winter. It did a fine job helping the firefighters find the hydrants in the snow drifts last year.

My cousin Tom told the judge "Your Honor, I don't know why I was arrested for forgery, I cannot even write my own name!" The stern judge replied, "You are NOT charged with writing your own name!" The chemistry teacher told Chris Corbelle "Tell the class what you know about Nitrates" Chris got up and said, "Class, from my experience I've found out that Nitrates are cheaper than Day-rates."

Kathy went to the Show Case Flea Market and brought home a present for me. It was a three inch diameter round disc with the letters "Tu-It" on it. It didn't make any sense to me until she shouted, "Here, you lazy idiot. You always say you'll do something when you get a "Round Tu-It" so - no more excuses!"

Folks, sometimes the "OLD" is better than the Christmas

There is no room, I'm sorry sir
But you may use that stable there
The straw and hay and manger sir, are warmer than this midnight air.

Joseph thanked him, then slowly turned and with Mary walked in the barn's dim light
As cows and lambs all soon learned
A Savior would be born that night.

This happened oh, so long ago
As Wisemen traveled night and day
To bring their gifts, so all would know
To come and kneel, adore and pray.

What will your Christmas answer be?
"I have no room, as you can see."
Or will you say, on bended knee
"Oh infant Jesus, Abide in Me."

NEW. I remember my mother having a treadle type Singer Sewing Machine. I remember when a salesman came to the door and offered her $25 toward a new electric model of another brand. She cried and cried about the mistake she made. She missed the exercises the treadle type Singer Machine gave her feet.

I have a very smart Labrador Retriever. I said to him "What's on top of the house?" He barked "Ruff-Ruff." My Aunt Nora ran out of the room for a couple of aspirins

I love quotations attributed to Yogi Berra, Casey Stengel or Leo Durocher. Their language is known as "Fractured English." Yogi was asked by a woman on a hot summer day at Yankee Stadium "How do you keep so cool?" Yogi replied, "I don't know lady, by the way you don't look so HOT yourself." My sister Maureen (the original Spitfire) sometimes can't mind her own business. Watching a parade in Stoneham last summer she shouted to a bagpiper: "Anything 'worn' under those kilts?" "No" he said, "Everything is in brand new condition."

Many of us are having a typical American Christmas. The TREES came from Canada, the ORNAMENTS came from China, the TOYS came from Taiwan and the LIGHTS came from Japan. Thank GOD the idea came from Bethlehem.

Folks do you see GREATNESS in a SMILE? Can we look beyond that priceless gift and recognize the LIGHT encouragement and the RAY of HOPE, LOVE and WARMTH that is behind that SMILE?

Folks, the wonderful thing about a SMILE is that we never know how many LIVES it will enrich and how many BURDENS it will EASE.

FOLKS, that is the reason for WOODCHIPS. That is the principal purpose for this column.

Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays to all and GOD BLESS

MOVIE: "THE LORD OF THE RINGS - THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE RING"
GRADE: **

Review: Director Peter Jackson has wrapped up a beautiful gift and presented it to movie fans everywhere, just in time for the holiday season.

Jackson's take on J.R.R. Tolkien's wildly popular trilogy about a small Hobbitt who is assigned the task of saving Middle Earth brings the characters to life in a way that is faithful to the story, yet easy to follow to those that have never read a single page of the book it is based on.

Elijah Wood is perfectly cast as Frodo Baggins, the Hobbitt who inherits a powerful ring that can bring the power to rule over the lands of Middle Earth. It contains the spirit of the dark lord Sauron, and his minions will stop at nothing to possess it to bring their master back to life and plunge the world into darkness. The only way it can be destroyed is to through it into a pit of fire on Mt. Doom , where it was created, and Frodo and the other members of the Fellowship of the Ring set out on an adventure to destroy the magical item.

The photography, featuring remote parts of New Zealand, is stunning, as are the special effects. Ian McKellen embodies the best traits of the wizard Gandalf, and Viggo Mortenson as Aragon and John Rhys-Davies as a Dwarf warrior help bring the story to life with care and conviction.

The only thing bad about this film is that viewers must now wait one year until the next installment in the trilogy is released, near Christmas, 2002.

were force fed by Hollywood back then, such as the Anthony Michael Hall cafeteria in the high school where much of the movie takes place, which itself is named John Hughes High School (named in honor of the director who film many of those same 80s comedies), to a dead-on parody of the hit 'The Breakfast Club', which features Paul Gleason reprising his role as the forceful teacher that runs the session.

Current films like 'Bring it On' and 'American Pie' are also skewered. Though many of the jokes are of the dumb-humor variety, you will find it hard to crack a smile at many of them.

MOVIE: "OCEAN'S 11"
GRADE: *

Review: Director Steven Soderbergh will continue hi recent string of box office hits and critics' favorites (Erin Brockovich, Traffic) with this remake of a heist movie that originally starred Hollywood's 'Rat Pack'.

George Clooney plays Danny Ocean (played by Frank Sinatra in the original film), a con man who has just been paroled from prison who has a grand plan to rob three casinos in Las Vegas at the same time, taking home an estimated $150 million in the process. The score alone will make him rich, and it doesn't hurt that the owner of all three casinos is currently dating his ex-wife Tess, played by Julia Roberts.

Ocean sets about rounding up an all-star group of 11 thieves and con artists, which is headed up by Brad Pitt and includes Matt Damon, Don Cheadle, Casey Affleck, Carl Reiner, Scott Caan, and Eliott Gould.

The plan is outlandish, but this group is so cool and calm that one begins to believe they may actually pull it off. The screen almost topples over from the amount of star power visible in any one given scene, but only Pitt and Clooney truly rise above the rest of the pack. They have a give and take in scenes that suggests they are old friends eager to get on with what they do best, and which makes us want to watch their mastery of all things illegal. Julia Roberts isn't given much of a part to work with, but she plays well in the scenes she appears in.

MOVIE: "BEHIND ENEMY LINES"
GRADE: **

Review: Gene Hackman almost saves this paint-by-the-numbers war movie about an American pilot who is lost on the wrong side of the battle lines, and the group determined to bring him back.

Funny man Owen Wilson plays Lt. Chris Burnett, a hot shot navigator with a smart tongue and wit. When his plane is shot down while conducting an overflight of Bosnia (of course, the flight was to be his last before heading home for good), he must endure several days behind enemy lines while being pursued by a Serb assassin whose one desire, it seems, is to kill this lone American pilot.

Hackman plays Admiral Reigart, Burnett's commanding officer, who decides to throw the new rules of engagement out the window and risk his career in an attempt to bring Burnett back alive.

Hackman's character is basically the same person he played in films like 'Uncommon Valor', 'No Way Out', and 'Crimson Tide'. He brings nothing new to the table, but his mere presence in scenes is enough to save many of them. The film is very loud and filled with special effects, and should appeal to the MTV crowd it is aimed at.

STONE"
GRADE: *

Review: Director Chris Columbus has managed to bring the lead character and fantasy world created by J.K. Rowling to life in a way that will make faithful fans happy, but may slightly bore anyone who is unfamiliar with the popular book series.

The 'Harry Potter' series is a money-making machine, with fans located throughout the world. Those that have read the book this film is based on will know exactly what is going to happen next because the film is so faithful, which also means that if the series hasn't–already grabbed you and made you a fan, then the film probably won't either.

Daniel Radcliffe, who plays Harry, is a dead ringer

About the Towns

by Phyllis Nissan

Around the years: Happy new one

In with Flynn in Stoneham

"All right, all of you Baby Boomers," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"Think back to the 1950s, that time in your lives when root beer floats flowed freely, long cars with fins like sharks swam down Main Street, and the adventures of the Lone Ranger were broadcast live through your family's radio.

"See that 11-year-old kid sitting cross-legged by the speakers? That's Buddy Reardon, the pint-sized hero of a new book out titled, 'Buddy Reardon in Pursuit of the Lone Ranger.'

"The story, written by Stoneham resident Jack Flynn, is a gently humorous, sweetly nostalgic trip back to the 1950s, complete, says the author, with 'bumps along the way.' The plot focuses on a third generation Irish-American boy named Buddy who hails from a working class family that lives in a quiet northern suburb of, as Flynn puts it, 'Fenway Park.'

"'It is a tale of simpler times when heroes were still heroes and people got their news from gossip and the radio,' says Flynn. 'It is the story of a world where people had not yet learned, through television, how to not be themselves.'

"The year 1950 was a time when boys such as Buddy worshiped two kinds of men, athletes whose bats sent baseballs soaring, and radio and keeps his eye on the prize, that rendezvous with the Ranger.'

Does he prevail? Ah, you've gotta read the book...."

Down to earth in Wilmington

"You stand as firmly as you can in the open doorway of a plane soaring thousands of feet above solid ground," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"A parachute is strapped to your back, goggles hug your eyes, and a jumpsuit cloaks your body. An endless parade of scenarios, ranging from the planned to the unplanned, which, of course, is a kinder way to characterize an emergency, rushes through your pumped imagination. Once you're officially within the drop zone, you leap from the plane into a vast pit of tyrannical winds whipping fiercely around you. You plummet to the earth below, with outstretched arms and legs and, if you're Wilmington native Paul Quandt, a smile on your face.

"'The great thing about skydiving is that every jump that you make is unique,' says Quandt, who graduated from Wilmington High School in 1985 and now lives in Groton.

"He ought to know. Quandt first jumped out of a plane when he was a student at UMass Amherst in 1986, and he has been high on heights ever since. In fact, in the first 15 years, he has jumped from a plane approximately 4,000 times. He is, quite literally, the kind of guy who, if told to jump, would smile and dare you to say, 'How high?'

"'In general,' begins Quandt, 'what appeals to me about skydiving is the camaraderie within the sport and the sensation of the freedom of being in the air. At every skydiving center, you can always find close friends. It's fun to be around them during free-falls and during campfires at night when you can reminisce about certain jumps.'

"Most recently, Quandt found himself airborne in Spain, during a skydiving championship that was held during the last week of June. When Quandt banded together with other skydivers and formed their American team to compete against others from around the world, they created a friendly skies motto for themselves that reminded them that 'it's the journey, not the destination.'

"'As it turns out, the journey was unbelievable and the destination was outstanding,' says Quandt about his cloud-bound jaunt to Europe. 'The atmosphere at the world level far surpassed my expectations. I enjoyed making new friends from foreign countries and watching and participating in some of the best skydives in the world. It was just priceless....'"

Priceless commodities in Reading

"Personnel Administrator Carol Roberts met in front of the Board of Selectmen and presented an outline for a four-month Pay and Classification Study that began in September and ended this month on the 69 non-union positions in the Town of Reading," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"This study is typically done every other year, but it has been three years since the last study due to budget constraints, according to Town Treasurer Beth Klepeis.

"The reason it is done is to re-evaluate non-union town positions by comparing and/or in some cases, revising current job descriptions, and comparing salaries of similar communities' positions to find out any differences in pay.

"In a way, the process is a recalibration of the specific responsibilities of the town's non-union workers.

"These positions include crossing guards, librarians, Health and Building Inspectors and Police and Fire Chiefs.

"This is Carol Roberts' itinerary for the four month

A Christmas Tear

pass during the Christmas eve night.

She then declared that Christian and I would be taken by the strange man as wquick as possible to the state orphanage for a hospital is no place to be wondeing around like sewer rats.

I went back to the now darkened rooms where mother lay and grabbed Christian's hand pulling him toward the hospital exit. I explained most hurriedly that if we did not leave that instant mother's sickness would worsen.

I, fearing a dark future for Christian and myself, ran to the edge of town and proceeded deep into the Mulberry woods. As we slipped further into the darkness of snoy trees the norht wind began to increase, as the blowing snow beat upon our frigid, pale and wary faces.

Growing tires and sleepy from winter's wrath, Christian began to stumble and whimper. Placing my wooden shall upon his shoulders we trudged on through the knee-deep snow until the strom finally grabbed our legs and feet halting us within our tracks.

Loking into the painful, blinding snow I discovered an immense pine tree cloaked in virginal ivory for our shelter. Shrivering and tires, Christian and I huddled closely searching for any miniscule amount of warmth for comfort. Attempting to keep Christian awake and warm he began to mumble the word mother and slowly closed his trembling eyes.

Unable to wake him, I juimped from our snowy resting place and venter my anger upon Christmas and all that it stood for. Christmas was now my enemy and I was not going to leave this world without a fight.

Crying and shivering I searched betweeen the snowy pines pronouncingm "Show me your horns Christmas". "Come out and do battle for I'm here to defend my love and the love of my family. Face me, and give me a chance to deend what you so selfishly wish to take from me. Show me that you are not hallucination of all that is good and virtuous. If you are the snowy beast of Christmas that hoards all that is good, let me compete for the place within each of our hearts where all hopes and dreams dwell. I Christmas is a time of giving show yourself and I will give my heart and soul so that I may receive health and happiness for my family"

Sobbing louder and louder my anger now explosive, I watched the snow begin to surround Christian's small lifeless frame. Shaking the snowy pines I looked skyward and yelled. "Christmas should not be a season of falsehoods where sicknes, pain and death lay reign. If Christmas is a miracle and life is the most precious miracle of all, then why do you lay waste to my family? Show yourself Christmas for I will not accept this chapter of my life. Please of horrible Christmas please appear so I may relinwuish this pain and fear."

With my last plea I feel to the ground and could release no more tears. I brushed the frozen snow from Christian's face and began to accept our frozen ending. My once bright brown eyes began to dim behind frozen fatigues eyelids. As my eyes closed an immense light of yellow gold began to part the birch and pines. I strugles to open my eyes and looked into the calming light only to see a figure of a large man appear between the snowy pines. The man wore a cape of gold trimmed in snow-white fur. Upon his head a crown of golfd and silver encircled his long silky white hair. His face was round and rosy as his polar ehite moustache melted into a beard of curly white locks. The beard travelled down acrosxz his rounded belly to the tips of his shiny black boots. Shivering I struggled to my feet and asked, "Are you Christmas?"

The man began to laugh and said "No my poor child I am not Christmas, Christmas is in your heart." As he spoke my heart beat with cherished joy. His voice was deep and soothing releaseing the entrapped anger within. "You anger my child is found in the love for youtr family. To lose one that is loved can stir all feelings including anger. Rember this my child, death is always weaker than love. Thus death can be conquered and expelled.". "How can a child so small defeat death?", I asked.

He put his full red finger to his lips requesting my silence. He then pronounced, "Child if you have the miracle of Christmas within your heart then your battle will not be wasted." Slowly opening his cape of gold and ivory he rela=eased two small chrubs into the cold winter's night. The cherubs of wings of gold lifted a ball of snow from the peak oif an immense pine and began to circle the golden angel of Christmas. With his arms risen towards the stars a shard of angelic light pierced the heavens and struck the two cherubs holding the icy ball of snow.

The cherubs vanished, as the ice ball aappeared to be glowing with the angel's golden light. The Chirstmas angel spole once again. "Remember my child, Christmas is always fopund within each of our hearts. Christmas is the birth of new joys, dreams and loves and no matter the pains and tragedies we suffer, Christmas can be in our hearts and sould every day. Now take this heavenly ball my child and place it upon your mother;s heart and Christmas will return to your heart." I looked sadly at the angel and looked to where Christian lay. The angel smiled with forgetfullness and placed his hand into the snow pile. Suddenly the snow disappeared and Christian, amazingly stood and began crying to return to his mother's bedside.

The Snow Angel then smioled placing his hand on his heart and vanished into the snowy winter's night.

Christian and I ran through the woods guided by the light of the angelic Christmas ball. As we returned to the hospital we wuietly climbed through the window of our mother's room. There upon the bed lay our mother silen and motionless.

Placing the Christmas ball upon her chest the rom burned the same calming golden light. A tear fell from my tired eyes and fell upon the golden snowball. The ball of angelic light suddenly appeared to melt into my mother's chect, as the room grew dark. I felt the warmth of the Christmas miracle within my heart as motrher began to slowly rise in her bed.

Just then the nurse and the orphanage head master burst into the room and tried to collect Christian and I. Mother sternly said "Leave my angels alone". The nuirse and the headmaster stood dumbfounded as mother declare, "Some one could die here with the care you give", displayiung the wet spot upon the chest of her nightshirt, "Let's go home children and celebrate the miracle of Chirstmas." I lolked at Chirstianb and then at mother and smiled. Another tear fell from my eye as I placed my hand upon my heart and enthusiastically cried out "Christmas is a miracle, a true miracle of the heart."

Movie Review

tor the illustrations of the hero that appear in the books , but he has a bit to learn about acting. Robbie Coltrane as groundskeeper Hagrid and Alan Rickman as Harry's faculty nemesis, Professor Snape, are among the adult standouts in the film. The length, at 152 minutes, can also be a bit of a probiem for younger children.

MOVIE: "DOMESTIC DISTURBANCE"
GRADE: **

Review: This movie is like the story of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde - the first half is very good, while the second half is as bad as it gets.

John Travolta plays Frank Morrison, a man who is sad at the choices he has made in his life and what's become of it, because he has lost his family through divorce, though he stays close to his 12-year-old son Danny. He tries to make the best of the situation, to the point that he attends his ex-wife's wedding to a man played by Vince Vaughn.

MOVIE: "SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK"
GRADE: **

Review: Writer, director, and co-star Edward Burns brings this look at a group of New Yorkers who continually cross paths and trade romantic partners.

Burns tale, which he reportedly though up while on the set of "Saving Private Ryan", plays like it wants to be a Woody Allen film, though Burns isn't quite able to pull it off. His character, Tommy, is likable enough, as are the others in his little group of friends (the cast includes Heather Graham, Callie Thorne, Stanley Tucci and Dennis Farina. But the main players in this film are constantly running into each other and making connections, which is far to unlikely in a city the size of New York.

One thing Burns did take from his work on 'Ryan' was an understanding of hand-held camera shots, which he puts to good use here. The style allows the viewer to feel they are intimately involved in the scenes.

School Notes

Dutch treats, clients privileged, and principal focus

Wakefield: Wizards 'in Dutch'?

"A group of Galvin Middle School Students recently received the 'Kids Growing with Dutch Bulbs' award, as a result of their participation in a service project," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The seventh grade team, 'The Wizards,' were some of the 500 recipients of the 2001 award.

"The students planted bulbs as part of a community service project to beautify the school grounds.

"This project was initiated five years ago by Ms. Rene Biscardi, a local seventh grade teacher.

"Biscardi explained, 'It is so nice to see the students involved in such a growing project. It gives the students a sense of responsibility and pride in their school. We will be planting the bulbs this week before the frost.'

"Additionally, the students will soon send letters of thanks to the Mail Order Gardening Association as part of an English assignment."

North Reading: Rogers almost jolly?

"David Rogers, a seventh grade teacher at the Middle School has gone from the courtroom to the classroom as a profession, to gain a different sense of fulfillment," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"The Andover resident, a graduate of Boston College and George Washington University worked at the law firm of Campbell, Campbell & Edwards in Boston for 15 years. Rogers was a partner and trial lawyer for the firm that dealt with all aspects of complex product liability, medical malpractice and other business litigation and personal injury cases.

"The proliferation of frivolous lawsuits and simply defending his clients' rights not to be taken advantage of, took a toll on Rogers.

""I simply got sick of it,' said Rogers of the legal profession. 'I wanted a new challenge.'

"Rogers decided that the law field wasn't where he wanted to be anymore and he always wanted to teach, so in 1998 he took a leave from his practice and pursued a substitute teaching job. Without a college background in education, Rogers needed a little help in finding a teaching position. 'Former Principal Gail Votano was very supportive of me and took a chance on hiring me. She really helped me out when I decided to try teaching.' Rogers taught at a dozen schools as a substitute teacher in the greater Boston area.

"Rogers' teacher substitution work took him to many high schools and he taught several different subjects. As Rogers searched for a permanent place to teach, Assistant Principal Charles Jones suggested he give Middle School a try.

"'I love the students at this age. They are very enthusiastic and give a lot of input to the class,' said Rogers...."

Tewksbury: Romano 'grilled'?

After 38 years of service in the Tewksbury School Department, Tewksbury Memorial High School Principal Anthony Romano is retiring," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"'I'm proud to say that I came here as a classroom teacher in 1964,' says Principal Romano. 'The community and school personnel have been exceptional during my career here.'

"Mr. Romano, who turns 60 in January, plans to retire on his wife's birthday in June.

"Born and raised in Springfield, Principal Romano earned his Bachelor's degree in industrial arts at Fitchburg State College in 1964. It was also at Fitchburg State College where he met his wife, Nancy.

"After college graduation in 1964, Principal Romano answered an ad in the paper placed by the Tewksbury School Department.

"Eventually, in the early 1970s, Mr. Romano became the assistant principal of the high school, a role that he would assume for the following 25 years. Finally, he was appointed principal of the high school in the late 1990s. In addition, he assumed the role of Community Education Director for six years and coached girls varsity for two years...."

Enjoy the view

The Eddinger's ample size is typical of new homes today. The average home size has grown by approximately 200 square feet since Associated Designs began weekly columns, 10 years ago.

Just a few steps inside this home, you can begin enjoying the panoramic view. Windows fill most of the rear-facing walls in the expansive hexagonal great room that forms the core of this handsome midsize home. A wide-hearthed fireplace stands ready to provide warmth and color when darkness falls Great rooms have gained popularity over the last decade, while the separate parlor and family room have fallen out of favor.

Shake siding and tapered stone veneer masonry help this home blend easily into a forested or other natural back yard.

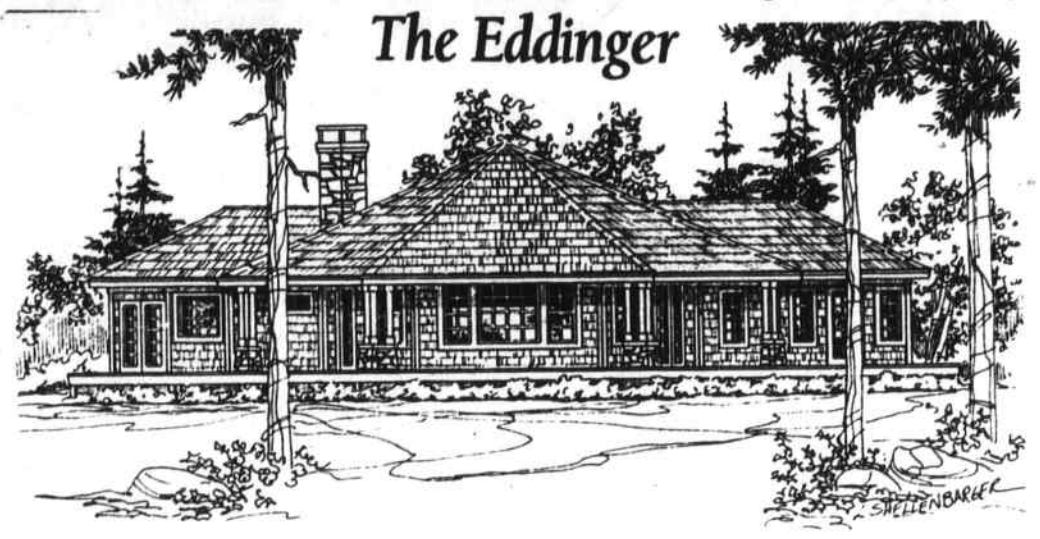

Families that enjoy outdoor living will find plenty of space to do it on the broad, partially covered deck that sweeps across the entire rear. Lounge chairs, picnics tables, porch swings, potted plants, a hot tub-there's space for all these and more.

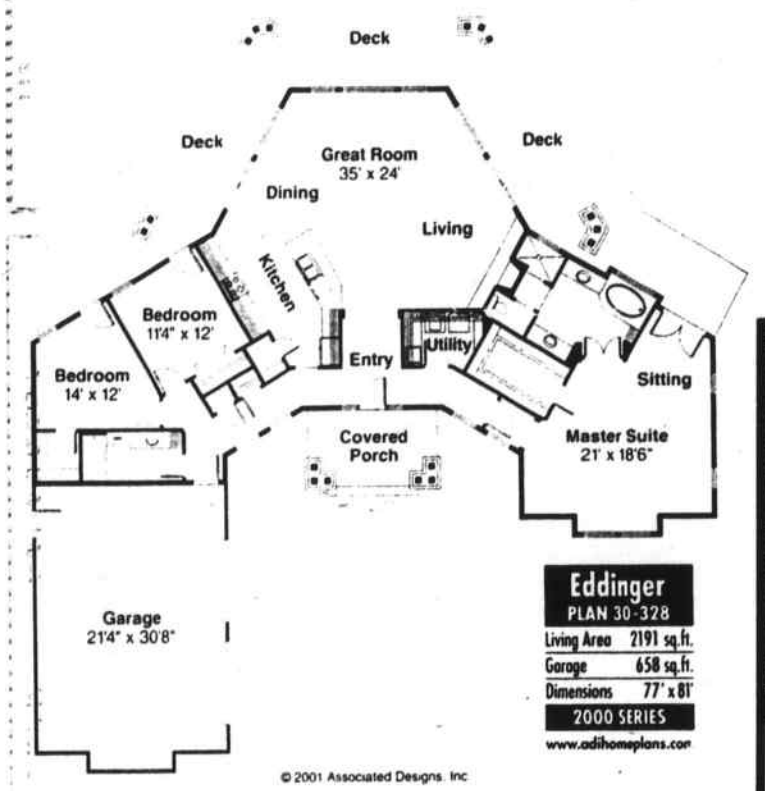

Even from the inside it's easy to enjoy the view. The kitchen is fully open to the great room, separated only by a peninsular counter. This openness, too, is a strong trend. Family and friends who aren't helping in the kitchen will enjoy hanging out along the extended conversion bar. Counter and cupboard space are amply supplied, and a generous walk-in pantry adds still more storage capacity.

Laundry appliances are nearby in a fully outfitted utility room complete with a deep sink, storage shelves, cupboards, and a counter for folding clothes.

The Eddinger's master suite is well away from the secondary bedrooms, reflecting the mature baby boomer's desire for greater auditory distance from teenage offspring. Rich in amenities, it boasts a huge walk-in closet, twin vanities, oversized shower, soaking tub, and private water closet, plus direct access to the deck through a set of atrium doors.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artists's conception, send $25 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402. Please specify the Eddinger 30-328 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring over 350 home plans is available for $15. For more information, call (800) 634-0123.

Looking to add a warm look?

Homeowners looking to add the warm, natural look of wood to any room in their house no longer have to look down at the floor. They can now look up...at the ceiling.

The reason: the introduction of laminate ceiling planks.

Called WoodHaven, the planks are manufactured by Armstrong and feature easy do-it-yourself installation and a tough, durable pre-finished laminate surface.

The ceiling planks measure 5" wide x 78" long x 3/8" thick, and are offered in four natural colors: classic white, beech, warm cherry and natural maple.

According to JoAnn Davis Brayman, General Manager of Residential Ceilings for Armstrong, the new ceiling planks are the first to offer a woodgrain look that competes with both the appearance and the feel of other wood options, but with the added benefits of a durable, laminate product.

She also notes that there are currently no true do-it-yourself wood options in the marketplace. "Nearly all wood products currently used in residential applications are unfinished. And, they are not differentiated for ceiling applications. WoodHaven ceiling planks are designed specifically for use on ceilings and feature a pre-finished laminate surface."

The planks are constructed from Medium Density Fiberboard (MDF), an engineered wood known for its smooth surface, workability and resistance to warping, cracking and splitting. The planks' MDF construction provides the strength and feel of real wood while the laminate surface adds durability and impact resistance.

The planks' humidity and sag resistance make them ideal for any room in the home, including kitchens and baths. The new ceiling is backed by a lifetime limited warranty, and cleans with a damp cloth.

Easy To Install

Laminate ceiling planks install easily without the nails or finishing requirements of real wood. This reduces installation time by one third. The interlocking tongue and groove planks simply attach to wood joists or wood furring strips using installation clips that are provided with the planks.

No special tools are needed.

Each package of WoodHaven laminate ceiling planks contains seven planks or enough material to cover 19 square feet of ceiling. All of the installation materials are also contained in each package, including clips, screws and screw bit.

To obtain more information on the new laminate ceiling planks, call 1-800-233-3823 or visit www.armstrong.com on the Internet.
